ANOTHER BLOCKADE-RUNNER CAPTURED.

EXPERIMENTS WITH GREEK FIRE

The United States steam-transport Fulton, Capt. Wotton, arrived yesterday from Port Royal, S. C., Oct. 3, and Charleston Bar 4:30 P. M., same day. She brings no news of importance.

The U. S. steamer Cosmopolitan, Capt. Crocker, from Morris Island and Beaufort, South Carolina, 60 hours, with 220 sick and wounded soldiers to the Medical Director, also arrived yesterday. The yacht Tortugas, under the command of Capt. McFarland, United States Engineer, had just arrived at Hilton Head from Key West, Tortugas, St. Augustine and Fernandina, Fla. She reports that no yellow fever has made its appearance at either of those places.

The steamer Diamond, Capt. Miles, arrived at Port Royal Sept. 26, with a cargo consisting of liquors and saltpetre, prize of the United States gunboat Stettin, captured in St. Simon's Sound while attempting to run the blockade to Savannah. The Diamond had cleared from Nassau, N. P.

The Post of last evening states that a rumor was current when the Fulton left that Gen. Gillmore had removed his headquarters from Morris to Folly Island, and that the bulk of the army and war material would soon follow. The reason for the change was the gradual washing away of the Morris Island shores and the healthier camping ground at Folly Island. The troops stationed there would be none the less available in the future operations against Charleston, while they are entirely out of range of any batteries the rebels have, or can erect, on James Island.

Progress of the Siege Operations—Firing on Fort Sumter—Explosion of Shells—Experiments with Greek Fire—High Tides—Miscellaneous.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Morris Island, S. C., Friday, Oct. 2, 1863.

Everything is so profoundly quiet in this Department at present, that were it not for the usual savage implements of war—almost totally unemployed, it is true, yet lying scattered on all sides—one would scarcely imagine himself in the midst of an army having for its ultimate object the beleaguering of a city not over five miles distant. An ugly shot or shell, at long intervals from Johnson or Moultrie, or some other rebel fort, directed at our works on the northern end of Morris Island, is just sufficient evidence that the enemy is neither dead nor asleep, and that he is desirous of impressing us with that belief with as little expenditure of ammunition as the nature of the case will admit. What other object he can have for this desultory firing, it is difficult to conceive, for good sound engineers all agree that nothing substantial can be effected with artillery used so very sparingly. The enemy is not favored with even a single reply on our part. The deep-mouthed guns which hurled their ponderous missiles against Sumter and Gregg and Wagner, are silent as the grave, and, as far as appearances indicate, are likely to remain in that torpid state for weeks hence, unless the rebels are graciously pleased to enforce an interruption.

SUMTER AGAIN FIRED UPON.

It must be known that although our guns are now silent, they were not so last Monday. As it became apparent that the enemy was hard at work on the ruins of Sumter for the purpose of mounting guns, Gen. Gillmore directed a slow and steady fire from a few heavy pieces to be opened; which, being done, had the effect to drive the rebels from the parapet, and cause them to abandon their design as one which it would be slightly difficult to execute. It was hoped that we were through with Sumter, but it seems the enemy was not quite satisfied with the result of the seven days' cannonading, and required a few more rounds to bring him to his senses.

EXPLOSION OF SHELLS.

A few days ago a shell thrown from Johnson exploded over a caisson which the rebels had left partly buried in the earth near Wagner. The shell broke open the caisson and ignited the ammunition with which it was filled, causing, of course, a succession of explosions, which did not end until another caisson, lying near the first, and also filled with ammunition, was completely exhausted. No one was injured by the explosion. The report was heard at a long distance, and was of such a character as to make one think an attack was being repelled by infantry with loaded muskets. The dozens of shells bursting high in air, enveloped in a dense volume of smoke, was a magnificent sight, and one which the circumstance of war does not often afford.

GREEK FIRE.

A number of experiments with Greek fire has been recently made by Mr. Short, the inventor, in presence of several officers of rank, with a view of contradicting the impression that the shells containing the fire exploded prematurely. The gun was placed in position on the beach, and pointed seaward. Ten tin tubes, each of which is three inches in length and three-fourths of an inch in diameter, and filled with the material composing the Greek fire, were then dropped in a conical shell and filled round with powder. The first shell thrown exploded prematurely, in consequence, it is said, of a defect in the fuse. The shells subsequently fired had white lead placed round the fuse cap, and, with perhaps one or two exceptions, fully accomplished all that had been claimed for them. A dozen shells were fired, nine of which exploded at a distance of 1,200 yards. To show the powerful effect of the Greek fire, a number of tubes were lighted and submerged in water, where they were allowed to remain until nearly burned, and then taken out, but the bright blue flame was not extinguished. Other tubes were lighted and completely buried in moist sand, which was closely packed, but this also failed to quench the fire. The tubes burn for about a minute and a half. When first ignited the fire issues from one end of the tube with a fierce, rushing sound, not unlike that which accompanies the flight of a rocket, and extends the distance of a yard, but it soon sinks down to a dazzling blue flame of about two inches in length, losing its peculiarity of sound, and thus continues to burn to the end. An ignited tube in a basin of water gives the latter the appearance of boiling. It emits a heavy sulphurous smoke in large quantities.

HIGH TIDES.

It seems as if Neptune out of spite has determined to accomplish that which the rebels have failed to achieve, namely, driving us from Morris Island. I have alluded to this subject in a previous letter, but it will bear mention again, especially when it has come to be of such vital importance. To sit in a tent and see the tide rapidly and irresistibly sweep from view the earth a few yards in front, makes the occupant feel as though he was located on rather slippery ground. How many times the tents that were pitched near the beach have been moved back, I will not venture to say. I know that three and four times would not cover the number that some of them have been repitched. Some of them cannot be taken further back on account of other tents occupying the ground, and have consequently been erected on spiles, so that the water at high tide covers the whole space beneath. But there must be a limit to everything, and in this particular instance we are inclined to believe that Neptune has nearly run his race. It is said by knowing ones that the tides cannot be much higher, judging from the season of the year and the phase of the moon. That being the case, some comfort may be derived from the reflection that one can settle down in his tent and not be continually harassed with the expectation of being forced to take up his bed and walk some yards inland.

A CURIOUS PHENOMENON.

A singular effect, which of course can be readily accounted for on natural principles, has often been observed immediately after the discharge of cannon on a clear night. It consists of a long series of echoes which resembles a volley of musketry as near as it can be possibly imitated. A party of citizens who happened on the island a few nights ago, and who heard the firing of a gun on James Island, could not be persuaded that the echoes that followed were anything but a discharge of musketry, and actually mounted horses that they might proceed to the front and witness the fight. When half way up, they became convinced of their error, and returned to listen again to the remarkable phenomenon. At times, the echoes are so perfectly clear and distinct that a person who is not familiar with the deception would hesitate in tracing the sound to its legitimate cause. The woods skirting the eastern boundary of James Island, and the broad expanse of water still further to the east, floating two fleets of vessels, each vessel throwing back the sound, are mediums which could hardly be improved upon for producing echoes.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE.

Leaves of absence have been recently granted to a considerable extent. Both officers and soldiers are favored in that respect. The time is generally limited to thirty days—in some cases twenty days—either term being sufficiently long to revive the spirits of the recipient who—as will often happen—has been so unfortunate as to find them in a drooping condition. None but those who have been tied down to this Department from the first days of its organization, without an hour's furlough out of it, can begin to appreciate the immense benefit of a twenty or thirty days' leave of absence.

REGIMENTS GOING SOUTH.

Two regiments—the 24th Massachusetts and 97th Pennsylvania, left for Florida yesterday. Their places will be supplied by two regiments now there. There have been no other changes of late in the Department.

A SHELL ACCIDENT.

Yesterday, Gen. Terry's colored cook, whose bump of curiosity must be certainly developed to an alarming degree, undertook to investigate the contents of a 10-inch shell by placing the portion containing the fuse-cap before the fire of his stove for the purpose of melting the lead and releasing the cap from the shell. As may be naturally supposed, the heat of the fire soon occasioned an explosion, which seriously wounded the cook in different portions of his body, to say nothing of the damage done to the stove and kettles and pans resting thereon, the fragments of which it would have been quite impossible to count in any short space of time. A colored soldier named David, a native of South Carolina, having been made acquainted with the facts of the accident, drew himself up and pompously remarked, with characteristic vernacular, that while folks need not offer any more comparisons between the Boston and the South Carolina darkies which were unfavorable to the latter, for it was now clearly demonstrated that the Boston chaps were both simple and ignorant, while the South Carolinians, if put to the same test, would never have made such fools of themselves as to stick a loaded shell into the fire of a stove.

A Dash of the Enemy in Rosecrans' Rear.

They Destroy the Large Bridge at Murfreesboro.

Cincinnati, Tuesday, Oct. 6.

Our forces below have penetrated to Hawassee River, the enemy retiring. The rebels have also fallen back above, Col. Carter being beyond Greenville to-night.

Louisville, Tuesday, Oct. 6.

The Journal has received a special from Knoxville, which is considered entirely reliable, that Gen. Burnside held the country south from Knoxville to Calhoun, on the Hiawassee River, and down to the Western and Atlantic Railroad, only twenty-five miles distant from Dalton, the junction of the Western and Atlantic and Rome Railroads, and east of Knoxville, as far as Greenville, on the East Tennessee and Virginia Railroad. He also possesses all the passes into North Carolina. His right wing is in communication with Gen. Rosecrans, and his position all that could be desired. His army is in the best health and spirits.

REPORTS FROM NASHVILLE.

Nashville, Monday, Oct. 5.

I have just returned in a special train from Murfreesboro. The enemy have to-day destroyed the large railroad bridge south of Murfreesboro. They burned one portion of it, and the other portion of it they cut down. The bridge was still slightly burning when I left.

All was quiet at Murfreesboro at 6 o'clock to-night.

AFFAIRS AT CHATTANOOGA.

The Position of our Forces Impregnable—Our Troops Elated and the Rebels Dispirited.

Cincinnati, Tuesday, Oct. 6.

Private advices from Chattanooga up to the 1st inst., represent that the army is in fine spirits and that its position is impregnable.

A CHEERFUL VIEW OF THE SITUATION.

From the Cincinnati Gazette.

Mr. C. F. Baldwin, who was sent to the Army of the Cumberland by the State Central Committee, to distribute State and county tickets among the Ohio regiments, reached Cincinnati Oct. 4, having left Chattanooga on Sunday, the 26th ult. He brings cheering intelligence. The army was in excellent spirits, strongly intrenched, not at all disorganized, and confident of its ability to repel the foe should an assault be made upon their position. The men were in nowise disheartened by the result of the fight on Chickamauga Creek. They seemed to think, considering the odds against which they fought, and the purpose for which the rebels fought, that Bragg was substantially defeated. The men did not talk as though defeat had ever entered their imaginations.

On expressing to the General the fears felt for the safety of the army at the North, and his inability to hold Chattanooga, Gen. Rosecrans replied by stating that he had taken up quarters at Chattanooga and intended to stay there, and that he was in no such danger as was apprehended.

Communication from Bridgeport was kept up via Jasper, over a good road, which, when Mr. B. returned, was filled with ammunition and supply trains. The north bank of the Tennessee swarms with Federal cavalry, who will not be likely to allow the enemy to effect a crossing.

On Monday night, the 24th ult., the enemy made a demonstration on the right, engaging Palmer's division. The contest lasted for about two hours, artillery and musketry being freely used, and ending in a severe repulse, a large number of prisoners being taken. Mr. Baldwin conversed with a number of those on the way to Nashville. They represented regiments from Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee and Florida. They talked freely about the battles of Chickamauga Creek, and expressed themselves greatly disappointed and dispirited with the result, considering the failure to take Chattanooga in the light of a disaster, rather than a victory. They admitted their losses to have been enormous, the number of their killed greatly exceeding ours—"three to one in some portions of the field," was the remark. This they attributed to their being the assaulting party and the massing of their troops. Prior to the battle, Bragg addressed them, telling them they had come there to retake Chattanooga, drive Rosecrans across the river, and deliver Tennessee from the Yankee invader. Failing in this was, they said, to fail in everything but absolute defeat on the field. Their losses in killed and wounded seemed to trouble them. They could not afford to spare so many men and not gain the point for which the sacrifice was made.

ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.

The Late Attack Upon a Foraging Party—The Affair at Germanna Mills—The Streams Swollen.

Culpepper, Va., Monday, Oct. 5.

Yesterday morning a couple of wagons coming into sight of the rebels, from their fortifications on the banks of the Rapidan, they at once opened fire upon them, causing immense rumors to circulate in the army, of crossings in large force, &c. No harm was done, and the wagons got off after standing seven discharges. A cavalry officer remarked that it was a needless expense, as the regulations do not require a military salute to be given to wagons—few or many. To judge of what expense is incurred by such, it is only necessary to mention that each round of light ammunition fired is worth a week's board.

A day or two ago, the enemy made a vigorous attempt to cross at Germanna Mills, using a force of 600 infantry as a storming party. About 100 of Gen. Buford's dismounted cavalry, on picket duty there, kept them at bay, and finally repulsed them, without making any fuss about it, or even calling upon the reserves for assistance. They—the secesh—are still at work, endeavoring to make the whole line of the Rapidan impregnable, working like beavers, and showing an increased belief in the pick and shovel, which must have its effect on the youth of the South, in learning them to "labor and to wait."

They are quite anxious about our intentions, and make many efforts to get within our lines. Three of their scouts got into our lines, it is supposed through the pickets of the Second Corps, and coming upon those of the Fifth, were challenged, and one of the party shot. The other two got away safely after shooting the sentinel who had fired on their comrade.

The recent heavy rains have raised the rivers very high. The Rapidan at present is an impassable barrier, without any assistance from earthworks, and every river is swollen. The railroad bridge over the Rappahannock was partly carried away, and some detention of the trains caused by it. Now it is clear and cold, the Blue Ridge showing more clearly than it has before. As the soldiers say, magnificent weather for fighting—but quien sabe, when will it be.

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

OUR SPECIAL WASHINGTON DISPATCHES.

Washington, Tuesday, Oct. 6.

VERY INTERESTING FROM RICHMOND.

A very interesting colored barber, direct from Richmond, where he has resided for the last eighteen years, and who has been in daily contact with the leading rebels, says that the battle of Chickamauga is not considered by the people of Richmond as a success; that Richmond can now be easily captured if the Yankees want it, and that officers of the army have frequently said in his hearing that Virginia would be abandoned should the Army of the Potomac advance in force. Many citizens assert publicly that they will not offer any resistance in case of attack, because it would be utterly useless. The people are daily sending their effects further South in anticipation of the coming of the Yankees. One day last week the State Guard was called out to suppress a threatened bread riot, hundreds of the employees of the Government, with their wives and the wives of soldiers assembled in front of the State Capitol armed with clubs and other missiles, demanding of the authorities relief for their starving children. An extensive riot was only prevented by the prompt action of the State Guard, and promises of the State authorities.

The action of the Virginia Legislature last Friday would seem to confirm this statement that Lee's force between the Rapidan and Petersburgh is only thirty-five thousand. It is a suggestive fact, mentioned by this colored man, that Stuart has failed to get a commission as Lieutenant-General on account of his numerous defeats.

THE WAY TO WIN BACK TENNESSEE.

One of the most intelligent of the Tennessee Unionists declared to-day, in the War Department: "The way to settle all questions in my State, between us and the rebels, is to enlist every able-bodied slave in Tennessee." This gentleman's plan of restoring his State to the Union won the applause of his auditors. "Let the niggers fight her back; then allow all Tennesseans, both black and white, who have not aided and abetted the rebellion, to vote, and to resurrect the glorious old State. Niggers voted in Tennessee until 1836, and they had free school privileges until 1856. They yet have free schools in Nashville, and to-day there are 540 nigger children in that city receiving the same education that our white children are receiving. We Union Tennesseeans demand only that the negroes be put upon the platform where our rebels long since placed them—the platform of free education and the right of suffrage." In the course of his conversation he further, said that Major George L. Stearns had brought half of Tennessee to a horse-laugh by taking Mrs. Felicia Grundy Porter's stately mansion "for an office to recruit niggers," as the bar-room jesters phrased it. The Major, he added, had a camp one mile from the city, where he has recruited a thousand men within four weeks. This wonderfully energetic Yankee, he says, is doing a world of good, and doing it with a tact and sweetness of temper which daily makes friends in the midst of our enemies.

REFORMS AT THE CAPITAL.

Thorough reforms will be applied to every department of the military service in this District and its defences. It is the purpose of the Government to sweep away every abuse, and to galvanize energy and effectiveness into the defence of the Capital and its Police.

TRIED ON A FRIVOLOUS CHARGE.

Lieut. Drake de Kay, of the Fourteenth United States infantry, distinguished for gallantry at Gettysburgh, was tried to-day upon the frivolous charge of directing some bystanders unknown, by signs and gestures, to abstract four bottles of liquor from a coach and convey them on board a steamboat—of course he was acquitted.

AN ALLEGED LIBEL.

The case of Count Gurowski. At the suit of Chief Clerk Hunter, of the State Department, for an alleged libel in his diary, was to-day set down for trial on Friday next before Judge Carter.

ACCOUNTS AUDITED.

The accounts of the Internal Revenue Department before the appointment of the present Cashier, Hon. E. Rollins, of New-Hampshire, have been audited. They embraced a period of seven months and involved many millions of dollars. A discrepancy of only two cents was found in the balancing.

MILITARY DELINQUENCIES.

Among the published warnings to-day to appear and purge themselves from charges are: For procuring a leave of absence by false representations of sickness and without leave, Major Wm. M. Biddle, of the Fourth Pennsylvania cavalry; attempting to practice fraud upon the Government by giving false certificates for the arrest of deserters, Lieut. F. Tully, of the Thirty-third New-Jersey; absence without proper authority, Second Lieut. Geo. Martin, of the Fifteenth New-Jersey Volunteers; being in the city of Washington without authority, First-Lieut. F. Burnham, Second United States cavalry.

Littlejohn, the distinguished citizen of Oswego, for Speaker of the House for his championship of this scheme of military defence.

THE INTERNAL REVENUE RECEIPTS.

Commissioner Lewis, of the Internal Revenue Department, is steadily forcing up the excise and tax receipts to the figures estimated for his Department. Last year, on the 2d of October, they amounted to $573,21 63.

Crawford's group of statuary, claimed by those who effected its sale to the Government to be illustrative of our nation's history, has been hoisted to its place on the north wing of the Capitol.

DARING RAID BY WHITE'S GUERRILLAS.

A band of guerrillas under the famous White, of Louden County, Virginia, made a rade last night into Langley's, six miles above Georgetown, driving in the pickets. They had two pieces of artillery.

INTERNAL REVENUE DECISION.

The original package is to be construed to mean the undisturbed paper package as imported.

THE WAR IN JAPAN.

Complications Increasing—The French Fortifying the Heights of Kanagawa and the Japanese Government Aiding Them—Attack on a French Vessel—Sharp Work Anticipated—The American Man of War Wyoming on the Lookout—A Curious Country and a Curious People.

Correspondence of the New-York Times.

Shanghai, Thursday, July 23, 1863.

In the open ports in Japan things seem to have assumed a more quiet state, though, on the whole, the relations of the treaty Powers with the country are daily becoming more complicated. By private advices we are informed the French are still progressing with their fortifications on the heights overlooking the town of Kanagawa, and, strange as it may appear, the Japanese Government is giving them all the aid in their power. This is indeed a novel state of things, that a country on the verge of a war with another, should render aid to that country in fortifying itself on their own soil. It may well be imagined that the French will not fail to make the most of this liberty. The Admiral has declared his determination at any rate to hold Kanagawa, let the English and other Powers do as they may.

The audacity of some of the hostile Princes seem to know no bounds, and for which they will be made to pay most dearly at an early day. Not content with insulting the American flag by their piratical attack on the steamer Pembroke, of which I gave a full account in my last letter, the dispatch-boat of the French Admiral on her way to this port, (and the one bringing our latest advices,) met with even a worse fate. As she has just arrived, we have not been able to obtain full details of the outrage, but from what we can gather, they are in the main these:

The dispatch steamer left Kanagawa with the dispatches of the French Admiral to connect with the French mail overland for Europe. Whilst at anchor in the inland sea, at the same place where the Pembroke was attacked, two vessels, a bark and brig, no doubt the same before referred to, commenced firing upon her. An attempt was immediately made to lower a boat and inquire the cause—but before the men could get into her she was hit by a shot and sunk. The dispatch boat had no armament capable of coping with such formidable odds, (as they are frequently chartered merchant steamers,) consequently she slipped her cables, and attempted to get clear.

In passing out of the range of the guns of the belligerent craft, and in making her exit from the sea, she was obliged to pass through a narrow channel, on either side of which are formidable batteries. Those from the south shore immediately opened fire upon her, but those on the north remained silent, being doubtlessly on the domain of a less hostile or neutral prince. Had these joined in the attack also, the steamer, it is declared, would have been sunk. As it was, seven shots were sent through her, but none fortunately doing sufficient damage to prevent her escape. A little further on, she met one of the French gunboats going to Kanagawa by the same route, by which an account of the affair was forwarded to the Admiral. She was, however, well armed and ready for a brush. Whether she met a similar reception, or what was the result, we are as yet unadvised.

We shall doubtlessly soon hear of some sharp work, as the U. S. S. Wyoming, Capt. McDougal, was to leave Kanagawa the next morning after the French dispatch-boat for a cruise in the vicinity of the Pembroke outrage, with the intention, as we are informed, of taking the two hostile craft mentioned wherever they could be found, as they are known. The Japanese Government were the first to inform our Minister, Mr. Pruyn, of the attack made on the Pembroke, giving the names of the hostile Princes to whom the vessels belonged, but disclaimed all previous knowledge of it, and its ability to prevent it.

We should imagine from what we can learn also that it rather encouraged than otherwise our taking the matter of chastisement in our own hands. Of course the attacking vessels are regarded as pirates—not belonging to any recognized Power. It is quite possible that the Wyoming and the French gunboat may meet on the ground of the late outrages and act in concert. After all the diplomatic talk and delay of the English, America may yet be the first to fire a gun. As to the action which will be taken by the French in this matter there can be no two opinions—always ready for a brush, they avenge a wrong promptly, and almost without limit in severity. It will probably end in a destruction of all the ports of the hostile princes.

Personal.

Syracuse, Tuesday, Oct. 6.

INTERESTING FROM KEY WEST.

Successful Cruise of the San Jacinto—Capture of the Steamer Lizzy Davis and the Alabama—The Fox run Ashore and Destroyed.

Key West, Tuesday, Sept. 24, 1863.

The steamer San Jacinto has just come into port, (Sept. 19,) bringing as a prize the rebel steamer Lizzy Davis, of Mobile, last from Havana with a full cargo of assorted merchandise, including a large quantity of lead. The Lizzy Davis is a river steamer, with ordinary side wheels, and fitted with an extra engine and a screw propeller, to run away from our cruisers; but it would not avail. The San Jacinto soon run her down, and captured her not far from Mobile. At about the same time she chased the steamer Alabama, also of Mobile, and last from Havana, until she ran into Mississippi Sound, where the draft of the San Jacinto forbade her following, when the boats were at once manned, and continued the chase, which being seen from Ship Island the small steamer Eugenia was sent out to participate, and being the first to reach the Alabama, which by this time was aground, took possession of her and held her as prize to the Eugenia, which was in command of an officer outranking the commander of the San Jacinto. A prize crew and pilot were furnished from the San Jacinto and the prize taken up to New-Orleans. She has a large and valuable cargo. It will be remembered that she was chased on her outward trip by the R. R. Cuyler, near the Florida Keys, and threw over large quantities of cotton.

The San Jacinto has also, during this short cruise, chased the rebel steamer Fox, which to escape was run ashore and there fired by the crew and destroyed.

The gunboat steamer Adela arrived from the Gulf Squadron, bringing a large number of prisoners, blockade-runners, and yesterday, (the 23d,) a squad of about 75 of these individuals, including the crews of the Lizzy Davis and the Alabama, brought in on the San Jacinto, were marched to the Provost-Marshal's office, there to receive their permit to leave the island or to register their allegiance and become good citizens. The ship New-England is now in our outer harbor, loaded with coal for the Western Gulf Squadron, and is in a leaky condition. The bark Milton, from New-Orleans, in ballast, is also here, bound to New-York; three men sick. Steamers Octorara, Honduras, and bark Restless, have recently arrived from cruising.

The health of the island continues uninterruptedly good and the weather squally, with much rain.

The prize steamer James Battelle, in charge of Capt. Semmes, of the Tahoma, has just returned from a three weeks' cruise as far as Cedar Keys and Bay Port, where they expected to find a steamer loaded with cotton, prepared to run the blockade, but were disappointed. The James Battelle was grounded by her pilot about eight miles from Cedar Keys, and remained there for nearly three weeks, unable to get off.

Our mails are very irregular, and I fear that my two previous letters are still detained, awaiting a steamer from Sand Key.

Additional Particulars of the San Jacinto Cruise.

Key West, Thursday, Sept. 17, 1863.

The flagship of this squdron, the San Jacinto, of Trent notoriety, has just returned to this port, after an eminently successful cruise of ten days. I have gained the following particulars:

On the 11th inst., she sighted a strange sail and immediately gave chase, which was continued until night closed in upon her. During the chase, another strange sail was reported, and it was soon ascertained that two rebel steamers were endeavoring to run the blockade, off Mobile. Capt. Chandler, of the San Jacinto, so shaped his course as to intercept either one or both of the vessels, and on the morning of the 12th discovered one of the steamers under full head of steam, distant about twelve miles. Then began an exciting chase. The guns on the San Jacinto were hauled aft, and every measure taken to insure speed and ultimate success. Nobly did the ship respond to the demand made upon her, and spurning the waters from her bow, gallantly held her way in the pursuit. The movements of the rebel steamers were amusing. All the dodges familiar to professional blockade runners were practiced, but of no avail. The grim old San Jacinto was in earnest, and gained upon one of the steamers steadily, until within hailing distance of the 100-pounder rifle, when that implement of modern warfare belched forth a request for the Alabama to heave to. It was soon evident that the rebel had yet some faint idea of escape, and he ran for shoal water. Perceiving this, Capt. Chandler dispatched an armed boat, under the command of Lieut.-Commander Quackenbush, to continue the chase. This officer soon had the pleasure of boarding the prize, as she had run aground. In the meantime, the other steamer, the Fox, had been ran on shore and fired by her crew. Escape with her, was entirely out of the question, the steamer Tennessee being also in pursuit.

During the last hour of the chase, a small tug from the vicinity of Ship Island put after the Alabama, and, strange to say, the officer in charge claimed the prize as his—that he captured it. Such a preposterous idea will not be entertained for a moment by the authorities. A chase of over thirty hours by the San Jacinto, the running of the prize on shore, and, in fact, all the circumstances attendant upon the capture, clearly indicate where the credit of the capture belongs, and to whom it is due.

The Alabama is a vessel of about five hundred tons, quite new, and constructed in New-York. Her engine and boilers bear the stamp of the Morgan Iron works, 1860, of light draft, and with speed of twelve miles an hour. She has been a troublesome customer, and the officers and crew of the San Jacinto may well congratulate themselves upon her capture, and the destruction of her companion, the crafty Fox.

The value of the cargo I am unable to ascertain, as the senior officer at Ship Island sent the prize to New Orleans, instead of this port, where she properly belonged.

The health of this place continues good, and no fears are entertained of a visit by the yellow fever.

The San Jacinto also captured the steamer Lizzie Davis from Havana to Mobile with a valuable cargo. Thus three are disposed of. All honor to the flagship.

Trial of the Rioters.

COURT OF OYER AND TERMINER.

Before Judge Barnard.

At the opening of the Court yesterday morning, WM. STRATTON was placed at the bar, charged with being engaged in the riots in July last. The prisoner pleaded guilty, and his counsel asked for a suspension of sentence on the ground that the prisoner was not one of the original rioters, but was led into joining the mob on the second or third day of the riots—he having unfortunately indulged too freely in liquor. The particular act charged against him was assisting to tear up the track of the Fourth-avenue Railroad. Judge BARNARD refused to suspend sentence, but in consideration of the fact that the prisoner had pleaded guilty, and thereby saved the Court the trouble of trying him, and also of the fact that he had previously sustained a good character, he would sentence him to only six months in the Penitentiary. The Judge remarked to the prisoner that he had been engaged in the riots of July last, which were the most outrageous and disgraceful that had ever occurred in this country. Had there been any loss of life or great destruction of property attending his offence, he would not have escaped a long term in the State Prison; and he would here take occasion to remark, that all offenders who had been engaged in the commission of those higher crimes, if they were convicted before him, might expect to have meted out to them the full penalty of the law.

The case of JAMES MCCALLISTER, charged with the murder of a negro named WILLIAMS during the riots, was next called on for trial, but there not being enough jurors present to go on with the case, the Court adjourned to 10 o'clock this morning.

A Grand Jury will be impanneled in this Court this morning, and will receive the charge from Judge BARNARD.

TUESDAY, Oct. 6—P. M.

There was a further rise of 2¼ ₩ cent. in Gold and Exchange for the packet to-morrow. The sales of Gold at the Second Board, this afternoon, were at 147¼@¼@147 ₩ cent., and Bills on London left off 161½@162 ₩ cent.

The rise in Exchange imparted increased activity to the demand for United States 6 ₩ cents for the European Markets. The price of Coupons of 1881 went to 108@108½ ₩ cent., and heavy purchases of the popular 5-20 Years 6 ₩ cent. Loan, Coupon bonds, were made at 103@103½ ₩ cent. including interest since 1st May. Messrs. FISK & HATCH, Sub-Agents for the Loan, have sold $750,000 since yesterday morning, and LIVERMORE, CLEWS & Co., $300,000 to-day, and other Sub-Agents also sold large sums, of which about one-half was taken for England and the Continent, chiefly for Holland and Germany. Some considerable purchases of 7-30 ₩ cents. have also been made for the employment of foreign balances.

Early in the day the Railways were less excited on the Stock Exchange than yesterday, and the amount of business fell off on some of the New-York and Western descriptions. But the speculation for the rise was renewed at the second Board, and there was marked eagerness to buy Erie and Illinois Central, which partially feel the rise in Bills on London, besides participating in the influence of the large traffic over the New-York and Western lines, in September. The returns of the month, actual and reputed, are the more notable from the fact that the same month last year yielded unusually liberal results. The other Western Roads, except Michigan Southern, were higher than in the forenoon, and generally above the best rates of yesterday. The shares of the Northwest and Chicago, and of the Marietta and Cincinnati rose, the former 3 and the latter 5 per cent., and there was an advance of 3 per cent. on Fort Wayne and Chicago. A heavy purchase of Galena and Chicago was made between the regular Boards at 112 per cent., and the same price paid and bid at the second Board. Canton Company rose to 36½ and Pacific Mail to 134 per cent. The rise on the latter is 18 per cent in two days.

At 4 o'clock the following prices were made as compared with last night. There was a further rise in Canton, Pacific Mail, Illinois Central, and Erie. Galena went up to 113 ₩ cent.:

The Union Pacific Railway Bonds.

LEAVENWORTH CITY, Kansas, }
Saturday, Sept. 26, 1863. }

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

On the 10th of July last we addressed you the following note which appeared in your columns of the following morning:

A CARD: UNION PACIFIC RAILWAY COMPANY BONDS.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

Referring to your article on the Union Pacific Railway Company, of the 3d inst., we deem it proper to caution all interested against negotiating or exchanging bonds bearing that title issued by any parties without showing due authority, as preëxisting contracts may be an entire prohibition to the legality of bonds of that character.

It seems to be a part of a scheme to mislead parties who may not be familiar with the circumstances and legal acts in regard to them. It is to be hoped the public will (in case bonds of the above description should be presented for their consideration) examine all the facts connected with them well, before investing their funds in a security which may prove invalid.

Yours, &c., ROSS, STEEL & CO.

METROPOLITAN HOTEL, NEW-YORK, July 10, 1863.

As the Union Pacific Railway Company's Bonds, above referred to, may be offered in your City for sale or negotiation, within the coming ten days, we deem it right and proper to again caution the public against purchasing them, or an order was issued on the 22d instant, by His Honor SAMUEL A. MILLER, presiding United States Judge for this Judicial Circuit, addressed to the Union Pacific Railway Company, (Eastern Division,) and SAMUEL HALLETT, forbidding them or either of them, their agents or attorney, to sell, hypothecate or in any way dispose of any of said bonds; and citing said parties to appear before His Honor at the Judge's rooms in the United States Custom-house, at St. Louis, on the 15th day of October next, and show cause why an injunction and mandamus should not issue, requiring certain mortgages and deeds of trust, executed by said Railway Company to WASHINGTON HUNT and SAMUEL B. RUGGLES, to be canceled; and the said Railway Company be compelled to carry out its contract with us in good faith, and pay us for building their road, as we have been, and are now doing.

If you will insert this notice in your widely circulated paper, you may save innocent parties from losses they would inevitably incur, by investing in the bonds in question.

Yours, &c.,
ROSS, STEEL & CO.,
Contractors for building the "Leavenworth, Pawnee and Western Railroad," now called the "Union Pacific Railway, Eastern Division."

The business in Breadstuffs during the past fortnight, Mr. EDWARD BILL notices thus: "The trade in Flour for the fortnight past has been marked with some activity, but with rapid fluctuations in value. The supplies of new continue light, owing to the high rates of Wheat throughout the country, and this gives dealers more confidence, and enables holders to realize better prices for that and the good brands of old from store (the stock of which is greatly reduced.) At yesterday's market the demand was moderate, and prices a trifle lower. A change in the weather has enabled the English farmers to save their crop of Wheat in fair order, and the late advices are not as favorable as previous accounts, and many orders have been countermanded, or limits considerably reduced. The late sales have been at quite irregular rates, having been governed as usual by the constantly fluctuating value of Exchange. Limited arrivals have helped the receivers somewhat, still, at yesterday's Exchange, with an increase of supply, there was a light business at a decline of one or two cents. Rye has improved and is wanted at our quotations. Indian Corn, in con sequence of the damage by the late heavy frosts at the West, has been in active demand on speculation, and has advanced 8c.@10c. ₱ bushel, closing firmly. The export clearances from this port for the fortnight consists of—To Great Britain and Ireland, 52,782 bbls. Flour, 618,727 bushels Wheat, 51,053 bushels Corn; to Continental ports, 3,676 bbls. Flour, 34,674 bushels Wheat, 6,714 bushels Rye; to Mexico, 5,451 bbls. Flour, 1,000 bushels Corn; to Brazil, 9,687 bbls. Flour."

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE REBELLION.

The rebels appear to be making movements designed to give Burnside some trouble. A dispatch from Nashville, dated Monday, states that a force of them on that day had destroyed the large bridge south of Murfreesboro. This pretty piece of enterprise, however, is not likely to be repeated. Burnside's cavalry force is greatly superior in point of numbers and fighting qualities to that of Wheeler and, doubtless, will make its superiority felt. The rebel infantry have as much as they can attend to in watching the Army of the Cumberland.

By arrivals from Charleston Bar we have advices to the 3d inst. It was currently reported that Gen. Gillmore's Headquarters had been removed from Morris to Folly Island, and that the mass of the troops and war material would soon follow. The change was simply a measure of convenience in consequence of the washing away of the beach on Morris Island, but sanitary reasons would ultimately have led to the step. Our special correspondence gives an interesting account of affairs connected with siege operations.

Handsome prizes are constantly falling to the lot of the Navy. An arrival from Port Royal informs us of the capture of the Anglo rebel steamer Diamond, on the 26th ult., by the gunboat Stettin, off St. Simon's Sound, bound to Savannah, with a cargo of liquors and saltpetre; and from Key West we learn that the blockade-runner Lizzie Davis, also a steamer, was taken on the 16th ult., by the gunboat San Jacinto. The Lizzie Davis was bound from Havana to Mobile, and was laden with lead and other articles for the rebel authorities. She had on board a rebel flag, but no papers of any kind. No other vessel was in sight at the time of her capture.

Encouraging tidings still come from the West. A Louisville dispatch, said to be worthy of credit, states that Gen. Burnside has driven the enemy before him southward, to the Hiawassee River, and eastward as far as Greenville on the East Tennessee and Virginia Railroad. By this means we now hold all the passes to North Carolina, and the right wing of Gen. Burnside's army is put in communication with the Army of the Cumberland.

Bull's Gap, Tenn., where Gen. Carter is holding the rebels in check, is in Hawkins County, on the East Tennessee and Virginia Railroad, fifty miles west of Jonesboro', and about the same distance southwest from Cumberland Gap. Our cavalry had previously occupied Jonesboro', or had proceeded that far on their mission to destroy railroad communication.

GENERAL NEWS.

Eight hundred prisoners, who were captured by Rosecrans at the battle of Chickamauga, and who have been confined in the military prison at Louisville, were on Friday forwarded to Camp Douglas, Chicago, Illinois, under escort of a strong guard. They will be kept at Camp Douglas until sent on for exchange.

The Washington correspondent of the Boston Traveller says of Gen. Hooker's movements: "He is to be under Rosecrans, and is to command part of the reinforcements sent to Chattanooga. It is pretty generally known that the Government is exerting itself to the utmost to give Rosecrans troops enough, not simply to remain safely on the defensive, but to assume the offensive at once. Hooker will have charge of one of the largest corps of the Army of the Cumberland, and he has few superiors as a corps commander in the country. He accepted the appointment readily, although it is a step down the ladder, and it was a fine exhibition of patriotism as well as good sense for him to take it unhesitatingly."

Jefferson, Washington, Pulaski, Wythe, Tazewell, Russell, Scott, Buchanan, and Wise Counties, Virginia, have all petitioned to be admitted into the State of West Virginia. Hon Jacob B. Blair has been renominated for Congress in the First District of that State.

Col. Trusten Polk, ex-United States Senator, and Ex-Governor of Missouri, reached St. Louis on Thursday, as a prisoner of war. He is to be sent to Johnson's Island, in Lake Erie.

The Eleventh Annual Commencement of the New-York Free Academy, postponed since the 14th of July last, owing to the public disorders of that period, was celebrated last evening at the Academy of Music, before an immense audience. The literary exercises were of a high and varied character, and were enlivened by the delightful music of Dodworth's band, conducted by H. C. Dodworth in person. The four degrees of Bachelor and Master of Arts and of Sciences was conferred upon a large number of graduates, and a distribution of gold, silver and bronze medals and other prizes was made to the most meritorious proficients. The valedictory by Mr. Lemaire Zabiskie was a fine effort.

Elsewhere will be found the programme of the Mozart and Tammany factions. The Sub-Committees meet to-day at 3 o'clock P. M. to perfect matters. It is not certain they will, although the probabilities are, that mutually satisfactory arrangements will be made.

The price of Gold advanced yesterday to 147, and Bills on London to 162 ꝑ cent. Government Stocks were in large demand for transmission abroad. The Share market, early in the day, was barely steady, but became excited at the Second Board, and left off firm.

Cotton and Breadstuffs were in brisk request yesterday, at advanced prices. Provisions were in lively demand at firmer rates. A moderate business was transacted in Groceries, Hops, Fish, Fruit, Oils, Seeds and Foreign Liquors, which were generally buoyant. Tallow, Tobacco, Hides, Leather, Hay, Wool, and the principal kinds of Dry Goods were actively sought after at rising prices. Whisky was brisker and dearer. Freights were more active.

The Live Stock markets are fully supplied with animals this week—in the beef line crowded. A good demand absorbs about everything sent in, though the numbers are largely in excess of ordinary receipts. The City hotels are filled with merchants and others from a distance, and an abundance of meat is consumed in the City, besides the large amount salted and sent to the naval stations and the blockading fleet. The clear, cool weather favors both the consumption of and the keeping of meats on the butchers hooks.... Beef cattle number 6,580, making the sixth week with an average of over 6,200 ꝑ week, or 1,700 more than last year's average. There were more than butchers wanted at the old prices, and the only way the cattle were nearly all worked off was to reduce the figures first ½c., then 1c. and finally 1¼c. on poor lots to close them out. Scallawag cattle were sold at 4c.@5c. ꝑ ℔., net weight, decent steers 7c.@8c., good cattle 9c.@9½c. and prime to extra 10c., with a very few of the pick at 11c. The average was not far from 8c. Several lots were sold to country feeders at low prices.... Sheep and lambs foot up 14,048 for the week, and are selling well at former prices. Good sheep are worth 5c.@5½c. ꝑ ℔. Lambs bring $3@$4 25 each, as per quality.... Live hogs number 21,229. If heavy and fat they sell readily at 5½c.@5¾c. ꝑ ℔., and 4½c. if light or still fed.

The Coming Elections—The Copperhead Chiefs on Trial.

Faction has had a high time of it this last year; now comes the reckoning. The day is at hand when the people are to arraign and adjudge. It is no light proceeding. The political life or death of thousands of men depend upon it. There never was a criminal assize fraught with more fearful personal issues.

Those most concerned may not realize this. Judging by their tone and bearing, we conclude they do not. They seem to imagine that this, like one of the old elections, is a mere party match, and that, at the worst, they can be but thrown on their backs for the instant. They will live to see their mistake. This is no party match. It is a judicial trial. The question is not whether this or that party measure or trick shall succeed, but whether treachery to the Government shall be punished. The Copperhead leaders, so called, are taken in hand not as party antagonists, but as public enemies.

The Republic, which, in all former time was secure, has been, for the last two years, struggling for its life. Popular elections, which before had to do only with its mere expediencies, now touch its very life-strings. Systematic opposition to the action of the Government, which then might have been but a healthful play of surplus energy, now only cripples. Party spirit is no longer an innocent thing. It is pure faction, and a crime. The Southern rebellion, it is certain, can be overthrown only through the constituted authorities of the Government, and whatever weakens or embarrasses those authorities must necessarily be an advantage to that rebellion. The Government, of course, may make mistakes. Being human, it sometimes must make them. But it is one thing to judge charitably of such mistakes, and to aid in good faith to get them rectified, if possible, or to diminish their ill effects, and a totally different thing to carry on a constant indiscriminate opposition against the whole policy and action of the Government, as has been done through the most trying times of this struggle by these Copperhead politicians. The one thing may come from public spirit; the other cannot possibly come from aught else but party spirit. It is for the crime of having abandoned themselves to this party spirit, in this terrible crisis of our country, that these men are now at the bar of public judgment.

It is impossible for them to plead any principle in justification. Even if it be granted that their opposition to particular measures—such as the Emancipation Proclamation, the suspension of the Habeas Corpus, the so-called Conscription bill, the legal tender feature of the Currency act—might possibly be founded on principle, yet that does not abate their guilt one iota. It was none the less their duty to sustain the Government against the rebellion that sought its life. No wrongs and no errors on the part of the men who administer the Government, or who legislate for it, can, in any possible circumstances whatever, justify the abandonment of the Government to its enemies. These wrongs and errors can, at worst, only be limited and transient; but the Government once lost, is lost completely and forever. The safety of the Republic is the supreme law. No principle above that is possible; and the man who pleads a higher principle, by the very act proves himself a traitor.

But the truth is that principle, even mistaken principle, has had but a very small part in shaping the practical action of the Copperhead leaders. The thing which has most steadily influenced them has been a certain sympathy with the rebel cause,—indistinct, perhaps, but none the less real and effective. They are without the hearty, whole-souled hatred of treason that belongs to the thoroughly loyal man. Their constant impulse is to make advances toward treason; to parley with it; to dally with it. We don't say that they all have this feeling in exactly the same degree. Doubtless not. Some among them are to-day at heart just as much devoted to Jeff. Davis as is any soldier in the rebel camp; and from this feeling there is every gradation up to the simple misgiving whether, after all, the arch traitor is quite as black as he has been painted. Not only the degrees of feeling but the modes of manifestation differ. Breckinridge, and Burnett, and Reid, and Trusten Polk, who figured largely among the few Copperheads of the first session after the rebellion, went bodily over to the rebel armies, as did Marshal Kane and many others in inferior stations, in the States that still were loyal. Vallandigham and Ben. Wood, the only two Northern Congressmen who, from the beginning, dared vote against the army bills for the suppression of the rebellion, have ever been thoroughgoing advocates of peace with the rebels at any price. Gov. Seymour, of New-York, has never directly committed himself to any peace policy, but still his whole administration has been indirectly obstructive of the war policy of the Government. While claiming in speech to be an absolute Union man, his official conduct has yet been, in no small measure, a practical encouragement to those who are in arms against the Union. Gov. Parker, of New-Jersey, and, for aught we knew, the would-be Governor, Woodward, of Pennsylvania, and the would-be Governor, Paine, of Massachusetts, are malcontents of milder type, who would confine their factious policy to still narrower limits.

But all these modifications of Copperheadism amount substantially to the same thing. Even the Copperheads themselves care little or nothing for the distinctions. There is not an individual of them who does not wish for the success of Vallandigham in Ohio, just the same as he wishes for the success of the Seymourite ticket in this State, or of Woodward in Pennsylvania, or of Paine in Massachusetts. They all understand perfectly that the practical result of weakening the Government will be secured by the election of any of the candidates. The Copperhead leaders of all shades find no difficulty in acting together, for the simple reason that they are all animated by essentially the same spirit.

The people will so judge them. All alike are under the charge of giving constant aid and comfort to the armed enemies of the Government. They stand at exactly the same bar where stood the Tories of the Revolution and the blue-light Federalists of the last war with England. Their career has now been long enough, and their works fully enough developed, to afford the amplest evidence of their real character. The public mind has a thorough understanding of their case, and will pronounce its judgment with as little liability to error as is ever incident to any earthly tribunal. We shall soon see what will be the result. Inklings of it have been afforded in the elections in Kentucky, Vermont, Maine and California. The opponents of the Government generally make no account of these. That is natural. We suppose that not one of the rioters who are to stand trial this October term under the loyal Justice Barnard doubts but that he will be more fortunate than his fellow-criminals who stood trial in the August term, under the loyal Recorder Hoffman. Just so, probably, every one of the factionists now arraigned before the loyal people of New-York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, and Massachusetts, imagines that a different fate awaits him from that visited upon his associates a few weeks ago by the loyal people of Kentucky, Vermont, Maine and California. Though everybody admits that guilt is subject to punishment, every particular guilty man always hopes to escape it. Well, we shall see.

A Speculation Proposed.

The following letter has been handed to us for publication. The writer formerly lived in this City, but left for the South at the beginning of the rebellion. The original of the letter is in our possession:

> My Dear Sir: Allow me to suggest for your consideration a place for a most profitable adventure, which a little diplomacy can render perfectly safe and practicable.
>
> To obtain the privilege, either tacit or written, so that it be reliable, to run the line of blockade with a cargo of staple articles from a foreign port, and to return with a cargo of Upland or Sea Island cotton.
>
> Such a vessel coming in at Ossabaw Inlet, under a discreet and reticent master, with vessel and cargo (when within Confederate lines) in my name, would be perfectly safe, and I would furnish her outward cargo—more than sufficient to pay for the inward—and send Sterling Exchange for your half of the profits.
>
> The profits would enable you to pay handsomely for the privilege, either by a pro rata division of them or by a direct bonus—to whomsoever you negotiate with.
>
> If you can negotiate for such an adventure, in any way that is reliable, I will pay my half of all costs and expenses—including that for the pass in and out, and give my personal attention to the sale of the inward and outward purchase of the cargo—and guarantee the latter safely on board. The profits in and out could not fall short of 300@500 per cent. on the investment—which would be equally divided, after deducting all expenses.
>
> A reply, addressed to R. W. H. Welch or Alex. Johnson, Esqs., Nassau, N. P., and to further care of Messrs. John Frazer & Co., Charleston, will reach me. I am, &c., G. B. LAMAR.
> To Hon. Fernando Wood, New-York.

This is a very distinct and business-like proposal. The letter did not reach its destination, so that Mr. Wood may never have heard of this very eligible opportunity for making a fortune which Mr. Lamar was kind enough to offer him. What reply he would have made to the proposition if it had come to his knowledge, he can tell much better than we can. The letter is important only as showing that attempts have been made by prominent men in the rebel States to enlist men at the North in the business of running the blockade and sustaining the rebellion. It is altogether probable that some of the proposals of which this is a sample, reached the parties for whom they were intended. What reception they met with must be matter of conjecture.

Judge Selden and Legal Tender.—Some of our Democratic cotemporaries affect to be in great tribulation on account of Judge Selden's opinion against the constitutionality of the act of Congress making "greenbacks" a legal tender. They seem to think that friends of the Administration cannot vote for him. We do not see why not. To our minds, while we do not concur in the soundness of that opinion, the fact that he gave it, under all the circumstances of the case, against all the political temptations the other way, proves his preeminent fitness for the Bench. It is much more important to have Judges who will be independent and honest in the discharge of their duties than to have men whose opinions concur with those of any political party.

Practically, moreover, Judge Selden's opinion is of very little consequence. The Court of Appeals has affirmed the constitutionality of the legal tender clause, and this is conclusive as to the sentiment and position of the State of New-York. There can be no conflict between the National and the State authorities upon this point. Our Democratic friends ought to vote for Judge Selden, not only because he has given an opinion on this subject which agrees with theirs, but because he has proved his complete independence of party control.

It is a little curious, by the way, how little importance the public attached to this controversy from the very beginning. When our local Court decided that greenbacks were not a legal tender in this State for the payment of debts contracted before the passage of the act, many persons supposed there was to be a terrible convulsion in the business of the country, and that all holders of mortgages that were overdue would instantly exact their payment in gold. Nothing of the sort took place. Nobody cared a fig for the decision. Both debtors and creditors concurred in treating it with utter indifference. The great body of the people knew that the issue of paper money and making it a legal tender was, under the circumstances of the case, a matter of absolute necessity—and they acquiesced promptly and universally in that necessity. Business went on exactly as usual. There is an instinctive common sense in the public that decides legal questions which affect great public interests, much more promptly and with even higher authority, than our Courts of law.

Checkered Career of a Corsair.

One rarely sees a greater change in the aspect of a case than has been exhibited in the case of the rebel steamer Florida, since her arrival at Brest. When she first made her appearance there, she came flushed with the recent success of burning an American merchantman almost within sight of England; and the tongues and pens of the rebels and their friends in France and England were loud in glorification of her, her commander and her crew, and in congratulations upon her and their success. It was a picture of intense couleur de rose. Excited Englishmen visited her at Brest, and wrote to the London Times marine tales which were narrated to them by her Captain, who was described as "a merry-looking man, with a ready, determined air," "equally ready for a fight or a jollification," and whose corsair career was depicted as very much of a jollification, though without much fighting. Those of her crew who came on shore were reported to have their pockets filled with prize money, and their bags bursting with bonds given by captured merchantmen. The Opinion Nationale stated that every sailor was entitled to 45,000 francs as his share. Then followed the announcement that a part of her crew had been detached from her to join another vessel, thus leaving openings on board her for other jolly tars whose imaginations might have been fired by these golden tales, and who would be only too happy to jump at the chance of making thousands of dollars in this easy, speedy and safe way. And to crown the whole, the vessel was allowed to be repaired in the Government dock.

But clouds began to arise over this fair and sunny sky. Some "base mechanical" whose property the Florida had destroyed, demanded payment therefor, not appreciating that it was for the express purpose of securing the right to take things without pay that the rebellion was begun, and that the Florida put to sea. An American gunboat is reported to have also arrived at Brest, thus making it necessary for the Florida again to try her hand at running away. Capt. Maffit is reported to be sick and worn down, not so "merry looking," apparently, as at first, what with the seizure of his vessel, and the arrival of the Federal cruiser, and the departure of so many of his crew, and their base ingratitude. For be it understood that these men—ninety-five in number—not satisfied with all those ransom bonds, and those thousands of francs to which they were entitled from the Confederate Government, wanted something in hand—for, during eighteen months, they had actually received only $10—and the "bold buccaneer" having no money at hand was compelled to charge them with mutiny and put some of them in irons and ultimately to discharge them and dispatch them off to Liverpool, each man with an order for a hundred dollars or so, signed by himself and his paymaster, on Fraser & Co., of Liverpool, whose devotion to the rebel cause, to say nothing of the immense sums which they had made by running the blockade, would ensure the payment of the orders. But, alas! for the vanity of human expectations. Fraser & Co. declined to pay the orders. Probably they did not see where they would get their pay, not having even the security of cotton "in sheds at least 300 feet from any other building." The officer who came with them had a letter to Capt. Bullock, but was unable to find him, by a singular fatality. He was probably too busy in removing the difficulties which the sudden perversity of the English Government had thrown in the way of the departure of two rams belonging either to the Pasha of Egypt or a French house, or the Sultan of Turkey, or the Emperor of China. At any rate he could not be found, and the men could not get their money, and were in great wrath, even, as was stated, threatening to go back to Brest and burn the Florida,—a most inglorious termination for so notable a career. If they should get back with that purpose, or even if these little pecuniary matters should come to be noised abroad, the prospects of getting another crew would not be benefited. So that, on the whole, things looked troublesome, and it is not to be wondered at if this "merry-looking" Captain did look sick and worn down; and it need not be wondered at, if the statement of the English journals be correct, that he has actually resigned command of the corsair Florida. We wait, however, to see if he is able to get out of his difficulties and to enter again upon his career of robbing and burning all vessels that are unarmed, and running from all that could strike a blow at him.

A Timely Publication.—Messrs. Lloyd & Co. have published in a neat little pamphlet a collection of President Lincoln's letters on questions of national policy, as they have arisen from time to time. No better or more effective document could possibly be circulated by the friends of the Union than this. Mr. Lincoln has a wonderfully clear and precise way of stating his opinions on public topics: and these opinions are so uniformly and so distinctly marked by sound common sense, and by unselfish devotion to the public welfare, that they never fail to carry conviction wherever they are read. No better answer can possibly be given to the abuse of President Lincoln than these letters afford.

Good News from Burnside.—The telegram, ("considered entirely reliable,") in reference to Gen. Burnside's position, will be read with great interest, as setting at rest the thousand and one rumors which the rebels have favored us with in regard to his precarious position, his disasters, his retreats, &c. We do not say that his position is not precarious: for if he holds, as is asserted, the line of the East Tennessee Railroad from Greenville to Calhoun, a distance of at least 150 miles, his detachments must be widely scattered, and his lines very open to attack.

But it is further asserted that "the right wing is in communication with Rosecrans, and his position all that could be desired." If he really be able to hold his communications with Rosecrans, and maintain himself along the regions described, it will be of very great moment to Rosecrans, for it will prevent, in that direction, flank movements or raids on the part of the rebels, from one of which Rosecrans has already suffered. We are delighted to hear such good news from Gen. Burnside. His campaign in East Tennessee has so far been a perfect and splendid success, and facts have already contradicted nearly every one of the rebel rumors adverse to him.

It is quite evident that Gen. Burnside, at least, is operating in a friendly country.

"In the Multitude of Counselors There is Wisdom."—A great many causes have been assigned for the late repulse of Gen. Rosecrans, and a great many Generals and functionaries have been blamed for it. We ourselves have set forth various reasons at different times, all of which undoubtedly had a more or less direct bearing upon it; and the opinions of others, some of which we could not possibly indorse, we have given, in order that the intelligent public might be able to form their own conclusions on the subject. To all that we have already given, we now add the latest theory that has fallen under our eye, which we find in the Anti-Slavery Standard of Saturday. It is there written:

> "There is an attempt to throw the blame of this default upon Gen. Burnside. Nobody knows enough of the facts to pronounce an intelligent opinion on this point. But, should it appear that he was behindhand in bringing up his forces to the rescue—which we shall be slow to believe, excepting on strong proof—we think that the real blame lies farther back yet. Whoever it may be that is responsible for the dilatory filling up of the Corps d' Afrique in the slave country, we apprehend, will have to bear the brunt of the blame."

Does the reader see it, and if he does see it, what is it that he sees?

Amusements.

The Olympic.—Last evening the Olympic—late Laura Keene's, now Mrs. Wood's—was lighted up for the gratification of a few friends of the accomplished lady. It is a combination of refined and elegant taste, and the result of a liberal appreciation of present requirements, is one of the most beautiful, cozy, and charming theatres on the continent. To-morrow evening the public will have an opportunity of testifying their approval of the "Olympic Gem," as they will of the charming Mrs. Wood, its great attraction.

Something About Mozart and Tammany—All About the Spoils—Mozart Demonstration—Tammany Demonstration.

The Union of Mozart and Tammany is subject solely to the question of spoils. Mozart comes to its consideration rollicking and careless, Tammany tremulous and anxious. Mozart is determined to have a full half, nothing short of that, and also to sacrifice in the arrangement not the smallest chip of its Peace platform. Tammany, who sees certain defeat in not conceding the terms demanded, is putting the best face it can upon the matter, and trying to swallow the following, which will probably be the division for County and City offices.

Mozart.	Tammany.
Register.	Mayor.
Judge Superior Court.	Judge Supreme Court.
Judge Common Pleas.	Judge Superior Court.
Judge Marine Court.	Supervisor.
Surrogate.	Recorder.
Two Senators.	Two Senators.
Eight Assemblymen.	Eight Assemblymen.

The ninth Assemblyman is to be tossed up for, the most Copperheads out of three tosses winning. Mozart claims the Judgeship of the Superior Court, made vacant by the expiration of Judge White's term; that made vacant by expiration of Judge Bosworth's being awarded to Tammany. The division substantially—positively as to the Register and Surrogate—as above has been resolved on by Mozart.

The candidates thus far decided on by Mozart are John McCool—now Alderman, and a most popular man—of the Eighth Ward, for Register, and Gideon J. Tucker, the present incumbent, for Surrogate. Tammany will bring forward James B. Garvin, Assistant District Attorney, for Judge of the Superior Court; Judge Sutherland for the Supreme Court; Recorder Hoffman and Supervisor Roach for reëlection.

The Sub-Committees of Conference of the two factions meet at 3 P. M. to-day, and make a happy family, or try to. They are composed as follows:

Tammany Hall—Sweeney, Twentieth Ward; Miner, Second; Purdy, Tenth; Tweed, Seventh; Farley, Nineteenth; Cornell, Seventeenth.

Mozart Hall—Hackett, Eighteenth Ward; Nolan, Tenth; McMahon, Seventh; Crane, Fifth; Flynn, Ninth; Wood, Twenty second.

These gentlemen, it is expected, will perform the chemical feat of mingling oil and water so as to keep them in a state of mingle, up to and including the day of the December elections. They will report the result to the General Conference Committee's meeting next Monday.

Soon after, if the mingle is perfected and without disturbing it, Mozart will have a mass meeting at Cooper Institute, on its own hook and on its own peace platform, no reference whatever being had to Tammany. Tammany will follow or lead with one, without any reference whatever to Mozart, and on its own quasi war platform.

It is confidently expected that those who attend both meetings, and form their conclusions from the several platforms and speeches, will be able to vote intelligently.

The Ninth Regiment and the Draft Exemption Committee.

The Ninth regiment N. Y. S. N. G., Col. John W. Davis, and the Draft Exemption Committee have come into collision. Some five or six of the regiment have been drafted, and those who have applied for relief under the provision which exempts "the regular members of the active militia," are summarily ruled out by Supervisor Blunt, Chairman of the Committee, on the ground that the regiment is not uniformed, has not done any duty, and, to all intents and purposes, is not in existence. Those applying for relief, on being sworn, testify to not being uniformed and not having paraded in two years, and on such statements the above conclusion has been arrived at, and they are "bluntly" ruled out.

The Ninth regiment is of the Third brigade, First division, and, on the other hand, claim that they are recognized by the Adjutant-General; that their officers have regular commissions: that a short time since, under order of Maj.-Gen. Sandford, they held an election for officers; that they were under orders during the riots, and that they have performed all the duties which they have been called upon to perform. Under these circumstances they claim exemption for those of their members drafted.

Thus matters stand; Mr. Blunt adheres to his decision, the regiment to their protests. A meeting of the Exemption Committee will be held this morning to finally decide upon the question.

Honors to Gen. Graham.

The distinguished citizens of New-York whose names will be found appended to the letter given below, have extended an invitation to Gen. Chas. K. Graham, who has just returned from his captivity in Richmond, to meet with them, and receive such honors as have been merited by his great services in the field; and the occasion will be signalized by a dinner at Delmonico's (Fifth-avenue) this evening, at which Gen. Graham will be present. No reader of the Times needs to be informed of the record made by Gen Graham from the time he left this City as Major of the first regiment of Sickles' brigade—two and a half years ago—until the bloody but victorious day of Gettysburgh, in which he himself gallantly led and splendidly handled a brigade. Throughout, his career was worthy of an American soldier, and we can say no more than this. And his conduct when taken prisoner, and during his captivity, was no less honorable than his conduct in action. The names of the gentlemen who have tendered him this honor are a sufficient proof of the estimation in which he is held by his own City of New-York. Capt. Macduff, formerly of the New-York Press, and latterly of Gen. Sickles' Staff, is Chairman of the "Press Committee" on the occasion, and his name is a guarantee for the fit performance of his arduous duties. The invitation and response are as follows:

LETTER OF INVITATION.

New-York, Oct. 2, 1863.

Brig.-Gen. Charles K. Graham:

Dear Sir: We have regarded with feelings of interest and pleasure your career in the service of our country. We have watched your advancement from grade to grade in the army, and applauded the merit and bravery that have carried you forward to your present position. We honored you among the heroes of Gettysburgh, regretted your wounds and captivity, admired your course in refusing your parole, and now desire to give you a cordial welcome upon your release from the Libby Prison and return to your native City.

Sharing in the general pride evoked and sustained by the brilliant achievements of the Sickles brigade, (with which you were connected from its formation until your promotion,) as well as the noble Pennsylvania brigade commanded by you in the battles of Chancellorsville and Gettysburgh; thankful for the great services of all the warriors with whom you have fought side by side, in their persistent and unwavering devotion to the dear old flag of our Union, we would also honor them, through you, by asking you to meet us at such time as you may designate, that we may extend that "God bless you!" that so many hearts are pressing to so many lips.

We are aware that your wounds, scarcely healed, and your after sufferings demand a relaxation from duty and a short retirement from active life, but we trust that you will be able to give us one evening for the purpose we have stated.

We are, with sincere regard, your friends,

Moses H. Grinnell,	Abram Wakeman,
John J. Cisco,	J. M. Motley,
John T. Hoffman,	Edward Haight,
Henry A. Stone,	Henry Hilton,
Meredith Howland,	Elias J. Beach,
Thomas Stewart,	John J. Kelly,
Thomas J. Brown,	Alex. D. Munson,
Rufus F. Andrews,	and others.

GEN. GRAHAM'S REPLY.

New-York, Oct. 3, 1863.

To Moses H. Grinnell, Rufus F. Andrews and others:

Gentlemen: Your letter of the 2d ultimo requesting me to designate an evening when my friends can extend to me a "cordial welcome," has been received by me with feelings of sincere gratification. Although it was my intention to retire to the country for a brief time, to recover from the effects of physical prostration under which I still labor, yet I cheerfully forego my desire for the present, regarding the compliment you have extended to me as one intended not so much for myself as the gallant men with whom I have had the honor to be associated since the commencement of this unnatural rebellion.

If agreeable to your views, I would name Wednesday evening next for the purpose, at such a place as you may select.

I am, gentlemen, sincerely yours,
CHAS. K. GRAHAM, Brig.-Gen. U. S. V.

Matters at Quarantine.

During the past week the following vessels have arrived: Brigs T. B. Warton, Velocity, Dos Magdalene, T. M. Sawyer; bark Ida; schooners Red Fox, from Havana, all with cargoes of sugar and tobacco; schooner Phantom, from Matanzas, with sugar; schooner H. P. Russel, in ballast, and French war steamer Entreprenante, from Vera Cruz.

The Entreprenante came in with 205 crew and 119 passengers, returned seamen, to the care of Admiral Renaud, in command of the French vessels-of-war now in this port. She had twenty cases of sickness, seven of which were yellow fever, the balance malignant dysentery, probably a modified form of ye low fever. All the cases were at once transferred to Quarantine Hospital at Sandy Hook. Five of the sick have since died and nine been returned convalescent to the Entreprenante, which sailed on the 4th instant for France without having come up to the City. Ten of the sick remain under care of Quarantine physicians and are now convalescent.

All the other vessels, being free from sickness on passage or at arrival, were cleared after five days' detention at Lower Quarantine.

Board of Supervisors.

The Supervisors transacted considerable business yesterday.

The Comptroller transmitted additional claims for damages sustained during the late riots, numbered from 2,189 to 2,249. In this connection, the Corporation Counsel sent in an opinion that it is not legally competent for the Board to extend the time beyond three months after the date of the loss or injury sustained, in which claims for damages by riot are required by law to be presented and action commenced thereon.

The State Comptroller communicated that the Board of Equalization of Taxes have fixed the aggregate valuation of property in this County, at the sum of $547,416,031, upon which amount a State tax of $2,737,080 18 is imposed.

On suggestion of Supervisor Purdy, that the valuation of the property in the County is 40 per cent. of the total valuation of the property in the State, a resolution was adopted, requesting the Governor to appoint a resident of the County of New-York to fill the vacancy now existing in the Board of State Assessors, caused by the decease of the late Hon. Thos. Addis Emmett.

The Board made the same arrangement for the November election, as regarded the Return Districts, as was made last year.

The Comptroller transmitted the usual monthly statement of appropriations and expenditures, showing the balances remaining unexpended at the close of the month of September, of which the following is a summary:

Balance of unappropriated expenditures, Dec. 31, 1862	$97,946 73
Amount of appropriations made in 1863..	5,433,009 96
Total	$5,530 956 69
Amount of expenditures to Sept. 30, 1863.	2,786,764 56
Balance unexpended	$2,744,192 13

The Board adjourned to Friday, the 9th inst., at 10 A. M., when the appointment of Inspectors of Registry will be the special order of business.

Semi-Annual Meeting of the New-York Typographical Society.

The New-York Typographical Society met on Saturday night, elected a new board of officers, and commenced operations under a constitution containing some new important features. Mr. Wm. McCrea was elected President, and Theo. L. D. Vinne, of the firm of Francis Hart & Co., Vice-President. The other officers were reëlected. A Board of Directors to manage the business affairs of the institution was also chosen. Hereafter the meetings of the Society will partake more of the nature of literary reunions than heretofore. A plan of life membership, by which publishers and other persons connected with the printers' art may join this time-honored institution, has been devised, and employing printers are already enrolling their names. In this respect the Typographical Society, though having a large membership of influential men, will enter upon a new career. The library and meeting rooms are at No. 3 Chambers-street, and are open to all printers.

Tax Collections.—The Tax Receiver began to receive the taxes on personal estate on Monday, when over $79,000 were paid in. Yesterday his office was thronged with people desiring to make payments, and $204,000 were received. The largest item paid by any one man was $30,000 from Wm. B. Astor; the next largest was from Peter Gillett—$8,000. The receipts on the first two days last year amounted respectively to $50,000 and $160,000. The increase shown this year speaks well of the ability of our citizens to pay their tax bills.

The Alleged Case of Extortion Exploded.

SUPERIOR COURT—SPECIAL TERM.

Before Justice Barbour.

Louisa Cadwell vs. Rollin A. Goodenough and Edward H. Hawke—This case was stated in the TIMES of the 25th of June last; the statement then given being derived from the ex-parte affidavits of the plaintiff, Louisa Cadwell, and of her counsel, Edwin James.

It now comes before the Court on a motion to discharge the orders previously granted.

The defendants, in addition to their own affidavits, produced those of a number of witnesses, all tending to show the absurdity of the allegations in the plaintiff's affidavits, and to prove affirmatively the groundlessness of the charges contained therein against the defendants.

We gather the following particulars from the reading of the affidavits in Court:

About the month of June, 1862, plaintiff applied to Mr. Hawke, and retained him to commence a divorce suit in this State against her husband, stating at the time that a wealthy gentleman, since deceased, (whom we will name Mr. R.,) would call from time to time to see how it progressed, and that he would pay the expenses of the suit, but that he did not wish to appear personally in the matter.

The suit having been commenced against her husband and the papers served upon him, he at once suspected Mr. R. to be the instigator of the same, as he believed that an improper intimacy had been existing between his wife and said R.

The husband of the plaintiff being at this time absent from the City and residing in another State, he at once wrote to Mr. R., accusing him of complicity in the affair and threatened to enforce against him the utmost penalties of the law.

The suit not being withdrawn, the husband of the plaintiff came to the City to defend it, and retained Mr. Edwin James as his counsel, and instructed him to charge in the answer to the complaint that the plaintiff had been guilty of adultery with Mr. R. She also advised with Mr. James in regard to prosecuting Mr. R. in an action of crim. con., and upon a statement of the facts to Mr. James, the latter, it is alleged, counseled him to at once arrest Mr. R., who was very wealthy and from whom heavy damages could be obtained; that unless arrested he might slip off to Europe. Mr. R., hearing of the defence to be set up and the proceedings to be taken against him, became alarmed at the publicity which might attend the affair, and went to the defendant, Mr. Goodenough, a mutual acquaintance of both parties, and asked him to endeavor, as his friend and confidential agent, to arrange quietly and without public exposure the difficulties existing between Mr. R. and the husband of the plaintiff.

Through the intercession and advice of Mr. Goodenough, the dispute was kept out of the Courts of law, and satisfactorily settled.

The plaintiff, as Mr. R. desired it, and for other reasons, gave her counsel written instructions to withdraw the suit, Mr. R. having promised to obtain a divorce, a vinculo matrimonii, for her at the West, where it might be procured for slighter causes than are sufficient for such purpose in this State. The case was accordingly discontinued on the 17th of July, 1862.

From that time until late in the Fall Mr. R., as is alleged, continued to take a lively interest in the plaintiff. He settled her board bills at the hotels, sent her to Saratoga Springs to recuperate her health, presented her with a gold watch and expensive dresses, paid her carriage hire, and gave her money, wines, brandies, fruits, &c.; it seems, however, that altercations sometimes took place between Mr. R. and the plaintiff, and that the former becoming impatient and annoyed at the constant demands of the plaintiff for money, concluded to redeem his promise and send her to the West, and that after obtaining the desired divorce, he would no longer extend to her his paternal bounty. He therefore sent her to the West in the Fall of 1862, where she obtained a divorce a vinculo matrimonii and afterwards assumed the name of Louisa Chamberlain.

During her absence Mr. R. died. Upon the plaintiff returning to the City, her former source of supplies being cut off, she found herself in want of funds. She therefore applied to Mr. Goodenough to ascertain if Mr. R. had made any provision for her, and was informed by him that Mr. R. had not done so. She then requested Mr. G. to assist her with means to furnish a house, as is alleged, and at various times applied to him for money, but having had no further interest in the plaintiff than to settle for Mr. R. the difficulties above mentioned, he failed to respond to her demands.

It should have been mentioned above that in the month of July, 1862, Mr. R. informed Mr. Hawke, who was acting as his counsel, that he had agreed to give Mr. Goodenough the sum of $5,000 in case he should effect for him a certain settlement and bring him a certain release under seal, the particulars of which are set forth in the affidavits.

He accordingly deposited certain notes, amounting to about $5,000, with Mr. Hawke, making the notes payable to Mr. Hawke's order; he also delivered with them a collateral security therefor, and desired Mr. Hawke to raise the money upon them for him, and pay it over to Mr. Goodenough in case he should carry out the settlement just mentioned. It appears that Mr. Goodenough arranged satisfactorily to Mr. R. the desired settlement, and procured the release spoken of, whereupon Mr. R. gave Mr. Hawke written instructions to pay over the $5,000 to Mr. Goodenough. It appears that instead of himself obtaining the money, Mr. Hawke indorsed and transferred the notes to Mr. Goodenough, who used them for the purpose contemplated by Mr. R., and it is affirmatively shown how they were disposed of, and that neither Hawke nor Goodenough received the proceeds, as was alleged in the plaintiff's affidavits. As the notes were given for the settlement of a private difficulty, it was understood between Mr. R. and Mr. Goodenough that the consideration for the same, and the circumstances under which they were given, should not be disclosed.

It appears that in April last, the plaintiff, hearing from one of the executors of Mr. R., deceased, that the sum of $5,000 had been paid upon the promissory notes given by Mr. R. in July of the preceding year, and that Mr. G., when questioned about them, refused to give any explanation, comes to the conclusion that the proceeds of the notes must have been intended for her.

The plaintiff does not claim that Mr. R., although her intimacy continued with him long after the giving of the notes, ever said anything to her about them, but alleges that Mr. Goodenough told her that Mr. R. intended to make some provision for her as a consideration for her stopping the divorce suit. Mr. Goodenough denies the allegation, and says that she was very willing to stop the divorce suit when Mr. R. desired it. When the plaintiff applied to Mr. Goodenough to know about the notes, she was told that she had no interest in them. She also inquired of Mr. Hawke, who told her the same thing.

It is alleged that she afterwards applied to Mr. Goodenough for various loans of money, varying from $250 to $500, but this was refused by Goodenough.

She thereupon threatened to have Mr. Goodenough arrested, and in an interview with Mr. Hawke she told the latter that she would have Goodenough arrested unless he advanced her money. This was said in Mr. Hawke's office, in the presence of another gentleman who happened to be present at the time, and who swears to having heard the conversation which he states fully in his affidavit.

All the allegations in the plaintiff's affidavits are met on the part of the defendants. Mr. Goodenough alleges that he never received any money, notes, or property of any kind, from Mr. R., or any other person, on account of the plaintiff, and that the notes in question are the only ones which Mr. R. gave, to his knowledge. Mr. Hawke alleges that the said notes are the only notes which he ever indorsed for Mr. R., and the only notes which the latter ever gave, to his knowledge; that he paid them over in accordance with the instructions of Mr. R.; that he never received from Mr. R., or any other person, either directly or indirectly, any moneys, notes, or property of any description whatsoever, on account of the plaintiff.

Edwin James and Thomas Dunphy for plaintiff; Samuel G. Courtney and Edward H. Hawke in person for defendants.

The Court now make the following decision:

That upon a careful consideration of all the facts set forth in the papers read on this motion, and of the arguments of the learned counsel of the respective parties, I am fully satisfied that the plaintiff has wholly failed to show that the defendants have, or ever had, any moneys or property in their hands belonging to the plaintiff, or to which she is entitled, but that the defendants have fully proved a series of facts entirely inconsistent and contrary to all the material statements contained in the complaint and moving papers. * * *

Motion to vacate and set aside the order of arrest should be granted, with $10 costs to each defendant.

CONVENTION OF LOYAL LEAGUES.—We are requested to state that the Convention of Loyal Leagues will be held at Utica, on Tuesday, the 20th inst., and not at Herkimer on the 13th, as erroneously stated yesterday.

AGAIN NEW TESTIMONY,

READ.

HARLEM, July 30, 1863.

I have been deaf for over TWENTY-FIVE YEARS, and Dr. VON EISENBERG operated on both of my ears without the slightest pain—a thing that I could not believe could be done, I now hear well, and feel as I never felt for the last twenty years. The dexterity and skill with which the operation was performed evince the highest practical ability. I hear perfectly. It is now over a month since the operation, and I continue to feel as well as ever.

CATARRH CURED.

NEW-YORK, Aug. 23, 1863.

I have been suffering for the last three years from a severe Catarrh, with a continual dullness in my head, a tightness across my chest, a weight over my eyes, which were weak, watery and very painful. My nostrils were continually obstructed with a pouring of fluid. I have had frequent sneezing, hoarseness of my voice, generally attended with spitting, often with a fullness of my throat, together with a soreness and a dropping. Dr. VON EISENBERG has cured me of all these disagreeable sufferings. I now feel a new life. The treatment of Dr. VON EISENBERG is as skillful as it is successful; it is impossible to overrate the benefit I have received at his hands. I heartily recommend any one suffering like myself to place themselves under Dr. VON EISENBERG'S care, with a certainty of being speedily cured. I give this with gratitude and pleasure. I cannot forbear again saying that my voice, which was hoarse and thick when I applied to Dr. VON EISENBERG, is now clear and good; indeed, I feel abundantly satisfied.

JAMES LITTLE,
No. 245 7th-st., New-York.

NEW-YORK, Sept. 8.

I have been suffering for years past from a severe Catarrh, with a great heaviness over my eyes, with a severe depression, great uneasiness, and pain in my head, great difficulty in breathing, and a continual accumulation in my nostrils, which gave me restless nights for several years. I have consulted several physicians, who pronounced me to be consumptive. What I suffered for so long a time is indescribable. My system was entirely disarranged and greatly debilitated. I not only felt weak, but I had a cloud continually before my eyes, and my ears were so affected that I was threatened with a total loss of hearing. I must say, I think, I was guided by Providence to come to Dr. Von Eisenberg, who not only cured me of my Catarrh by removing an astonishing quantity of disagreeable matter from my head, but he restored me to perfect health, a blessing I have not enjoyed for many years. Now I enjoy a good night's rest, and pursue my business with comfort. I must acknowledge that Dr. Von Eisenberg's mild and scientific treatment for Catarrh deserves the highest commendation, as the principle which directs his system of curing Catarrh is such as to render success certain.

JAMES FURLONG, No. 556 2d-av.

NO. 134 ALLEN-ST., NEW-YORK, Feb. 9, 1863.

I have been completely deaf in one ear, and partially so in the other, for above seventeen years, with a disagreeable discharge from both ears, combined with continual rumbling noise in the head, for which I have been treated by a most eminent practitioner in the City without the slightest relief.

I consulted Dr. Von Eisenberg, but I must candidly say that I had no faith in his success when I did so. It is, therefore, due to Dr. Von Eisenberg to acknowledge that I am entirely cured; also, that he displayed that skill and knowledge which have procured for him such an unrivaled reputation. As I have had an opportunity of comparing his mode of treatment with that of others, I can truly state that it is not only superior, but the principles which direct his mode of restoring the hearing are, in my opinion, certain.

JOHN TAYLOR,

NEW-YORK, July 19, 1863.

This certifies that my mother has been for some time afflicted with partial deafness, suffering from pain, and rumbling noises in the head, together with other indications of a total loss of hearing. Dr. Von Eisenberg removed from her ears a great quantity of matter, together with coagulated blood, relieving her instantaneously, and all without pain. It is with grateful thanks that I give this testimony to his skill.

CARROLL J. POST, No. 28 South-st.

SIGHT RESTORED.

JUNE 25, 1863.

My daughter brought me to Dr. VON EISENBERG almost completely blind in both eyes. I could not bear the pain nor the light. I am completely cured by Dr. VON EISENBERG, and called now to express my gratitude to the Doctor for his skill and unremitting attention, by which I recovered one of the most precious senses to me after being deprived of it for four years. It is only due to Dr. VON EISENBERG to state that I have tried several physicians in vain. I shall be happy to bear personal testimony to Dr. VON EISENBERG'S unrivaled success to any lady or gentleman who will call on me.

NEW-YORK, March 20, 1863.

"This is to certify, that I have suffered from very severe CHRONIC CATARRH, with a dull heaviness in the head. I felt my nose completely stopped up accompanied by continual soreness of the throat, the chills stealing over me with occasional hot flushes, a great tightness of the chest and pain, so much so, that every one thought it was consumption. Having heard of the great cures performed by Dr. Von Eisenberg, I consulted him with but little hope of a cure. I am now happy to be enabled to add my testimonial to the great number already in the Doctor's possession, as to his scientific and successful mode of treatment, as he has shown in my case that skill and knowledge which have procured for him so great a reputation. I am so entirely restored to perfect health that I do most sincerely recommend all sufferers from CHRONIC CATARRH and SORE THROAT to apply at once to Dr. Von Eisenberg with a certainty of being cured."

DR. VON EISENBERG'S OFFICE
NO. 816 BROADWAY, NEW-YORK.

From the army hospital—the bloody battle field—the mansion of the rich and humble abode of the poor—from the office and the sacred desk—from the mountain top, distant valleys and far-off islands of the ocean—from every nook and corner of the civilized world—is pouring in the evidence of the astonishing effects of DRAKE'S PLANTATION BITTERS. Thousands upon thousands of letters like the following may be seen at our office.

REEDSBURY, Wis., Sept. 16, 1863.

* * * * I have been in the army hospitals fourteen months—speechless and nearly dead. At Alton, Ill., they gave me a bottle of Plantation Bitters. * * * Three bottles restored my speech and cured me.

The following is from the Matron of the Union Home School for the Children of Volunteers:

HAVEMEYER MANSION, 57TH-ST.,
NEW-YORK, Aug. 2, 1863.

DR. DRAKE: Your wonderful Plantation Bitters have been given to some of our little children suffering from weakness and weak lungs with most happy effect. One little girl, in particular, with pains in the head, loss of appetite, and daily wasting consumption, on whom all medical skill had been exhausted, has been entirely restored. We commenced with but a teaspoonful of Bitters a day. Her appetite increased; strength and health followed. * * * *

Respectfully, MRS. O. M. DEVOE.

* * * I owe much to you, for I verily believe the Plantation Bitters have saved my life.

Rev. W. H. WAGGONER, Madrid, N. Y.

* * * Thou wilt send me two bottles more of thy Plantation Bitters. My wife has been greatly benefited by their use. Thy friend,

ASA CURRIN, Philadelphia, Penn.

* * * I have been a great sufferer from Dyspepsia, and had to abandon preaching. * * * The Plantation Bitters have cured me.

Rev. J. S. CATHORN, Rochester, N. Y.

* * * Send us twenty-four dozen more of your Plantation Bitters, the popularity of which are daily increasing with the guests of our house.

SYKES, CHADWICK & CO.,
Proprietors of Willard's Hotel, Washington, D. C.

* * * I have given the Plantation Bitters to hundreds of our disabled soldiers with the most astonishing effect.

G. W. D. ANDREWS,
Superintendent Soldiers' Home, Cincinnati, Ohio.

* * * The Plantation Bitters have cured me of liver complaint, of which I was laid up prostrate and had to abandon my business.

H. B. KINGSLEY, Cleveland, Ohio.

* * * The Plantation Bitters have cured me of a derangement of the kidneys and urinary organs that has distressed me for years. It acts like a charm.

C. C. MOORE,
Agent for Colgate & Co., No. 254 Broadway.

&c., &c., &c., &c., &c. &c.

The Plantation Bitters make the weak strong, the languid brilliant, and are exhausted nature's great restorer. They are composed of the celebrated Calisaya Bark, Wintergreen, Sassafras, Roots, Herbs, &c., all preserved in perfectly pure St. Croix Rum.

S. T.—1860.—X.

Persons of sedentary habits troubled with weakness, lassitude, palpitation of the heart, lack of appetite, distress after eating, torpid liver, constipation, &c., deserve to suffer if they will not try them.

They are recommended by the highest medical authorities, and are warranted to produce an immediate beneficial effect. They are exceedingly agreeable, perfectly pure and harmless.

NOTICE.—Any person pretending to sell Plantation Bitters in bulk or by the gallon, is a swindler and imposter. We only put it up in our log-cabin bottles. Beware of bottles refilled with imitation deleterious stuff, for which several persons are already in prison. See that every bottle has our United States Stamp over the cork, and signature on steel plate side labels.

Sold by respectable dealers throughout the habitable globe.

UNION MEETING.

The Union men of New-York will be addressed at COOPER INSTITUTE ON FRIDAY EVENING, Oct. 9, 1863, at 7½ o'clock, BY HON. HENRY WINTER DAVIS, of Maryland, AND HON. HENRY J. RAYMOND, of New-York.

By order of State Central Committee

HEADQUARTERS UNION GENERAL COMMITTEE, Oct. 5, 1863.—At a meeting of this Committee, at their Headquarters, No. 639 Broadway, on Monday evening, Oct. 5, 1863, the following call was unanimously adopted:

To the Loyal Union Electors of the City of New-York:

Whereas, At a regular meeting of this Committee, held on the evening of Sept. 13, 1863, resolutions were adopted indorsing the Union State ticket, and pledging it our warmest support; and,

Whereas, It is the desire of this Committee to secure the active coöperation of all loyal citizens, irrespective of party affiliations for its triumphant election, and, by discarding all party ties, to unite them with our organization, for the sole purpose of elevating to positions of public trust pure and loyal men, who would, at least for the time being, and pending the present perilous struggle for national existence, lay aside all party prejudice, to stand by our country, and support the constitutional authorities in vindicating the supremacy of law and order, and of maintaining the integrity of our national domain against the assaults of foreign foes and domestic traitors; and,

Whereas, The organization heretofore known as the Republican Central Committee, has recently thrown off its strict party lines, and assumed the name of this Committee, as we believe for a patriotic purpose; therefore, be it

Resolved, That all loyal citizens, irrespective of party, are hereby invited to unite with the local Union Associations, organized under this General Committee, in selecting delegates to the various Nominating Conventions under this call, and in all their efforts to secure the elevation to place and power of none but reliable men, whose character at home shall be a guaranty that our local interests will be faithfully guarded, and whose unswerving faith in and fidelity to the Union shall tend to strengthen the arms of the Government in all its work. And to that end it is hereby ordered.

That the said several Union Ward Associations meet at their respective headquarters on FRIDAY EVENING, Oct. 9, 1863, (polls to remain open from 8 to 9 o'clock,) and elect by ballot delegates to the several nominating Conventions as follows:

1. To a County Convention, to nominate candidates for the office of Register and Supervisor. One delegate from each two Election Districts, with one for each odd district where there are odd districts in the Wards.

2. To a Judiciary Convention, to nominate candidates for the offices of Surrogate, Recorder, Justice of the Supreme Court, two Justices of the Superior Court, and Judges of the Common Pleas and Marine Courts. Delegates to be elected in the same manner as to the County Convention.

3. Delegates equal in number to the election districts of the wards to Senatorial Conventions, to nominate State Senators.

4. Delegates equal in number to the number of election districts to Assembly Conventions, to nominate Assemblymen.

The County Convention will meet at Union Headquarters, No. 639 Broadway, on MONDAY EVENING, Oct. 12, 1863, at 7½ o'clock.

The Judiciary Convention will meet at the same place and hour on TUESDAY EVENING, Oct. 13, 1863.

The Senatorial Convention will meet on WEDNESDAY EVENING, Oct. 14, 1863, at 8 o'clock, at the following places:

The IVth Senatorial District Convention will meet at No. 109 Hudson-st.

The Vth Senatorial District Convention will meet at No. 187 Bowery.

The VIth Senatorial District Convention will meet at Union Headquarters, No. 639 Broadway.

The VIIth Senatorial District Convention will meet at the Headquarters of the XXIst Ward Union Association, northeast corner of Broadway and 32d-st.

The Assembly Conventions will meet on THURSDAY EVENING, Oct. 15, 1863, at 8 o'clock, as follows: In those Districts lying north of 14th-st., the Conventions will meet at the headquarters of the Ward Associations; and in those Districts south of 14th-st. as follows:

BY EMINENT DUSSELDORF ARTISTS.

By D. W. IVES & CO., on THURSDAY EVENING, Oct. 8, at 7½ o'clock, at the Derby Galleries, No. 625 Broadway. Every specimen in the sale may be fairly said to be a chef d'ouvre of the particular artist—the range of subjects including history, landscape, figure, genre, fruit, marine, still life, &c., the principal feature being the presence of the world-renowned painting, MEDICAL.

PRIVATE DISEASES CURED IN THE shortest possible time, by Dr. WARD & CO., No. 50 Lispenard-st., near Broadway, without the use of Mercury, loss of time or change of diet. Dr. WARD, from the Hospitals of London, Paris and Edinburgh, is the discoverer of the only certain and reliable remedies for diseases of a private character. In 28 years' practice he has cured more cases of Secret Diseases and Wrong Treatment than all others combined. I can and will cure you in less time and expense than any one can or will, and those who have been robbed of their money and health, call; it will take but little money and time to restore you. If you have been unfortunate, call at once. By his special experience in this much neglected branch of medical science, he is enabled to guarantee a cure in the most complicated cases. Recent cases of Gonorrhœa or Syphilis cured in a few days, without change of diet or hindrance from business. Secondary Syphilis—the last vestige eradicated without the use of Mercury. Involuntary emissions stopped in a short time. Sufferers from Impotency, or loss of sexual power, restored to full vigor in a few weeks. Permanently and speedily cured by a new treatment. Persons at a distance failing to receive prompt treatment elsewhere, may get a permanent cure effected by writing a full diagnosis of their case, addressed to Dr. WARD, No 50 Lispenard-st., the only place. Call, send for a circular, or write.

SURE CURE—BY DR. POWERS, SUCCESSfully consulted with Dr. WARD, No. 50 Lispenard-st. Conducted on the plan of the Hospital des Veneriens, Paris, where those afflicted with any form of private disease can receive prompt treatment, without risk or exposure, viz.: Syphilis, gonorrhœa gleet, strictures, ulcers, tumors, cancers, secondary and constitutional syphilis, diseases of the kidneys, &c., &c. Thirty years of extensive practice, exclusively devoted to the treatment of those complaints enable us to effect cures in cases where others of less experience have failed. Dr. Powers' Essence of Life restores the vigor of youth in four weeks. This marvelous agent restores manhood to the most shattered constitution—physical disqualifications, impediments to marriage, thereby speedily cured. The men to consult, Drs. Ward and Powers, the champions and kings of venereal diseases, possessing the most certain, speedy and only effectual remedies in the world, guarantee a perfect cure, or no charge, in from one to three days. Established in 1840. Those who have used their preventives are never without. Send for a circular. To Ladies.—Dr. Powers' Periodical Drops are a safe and certain remedy for monthly irregularities. The above remedies sent by mail. The afflicted should read their circular. Postage free, on receipt of a stamp. Cures warranted.

PRIVATE CONSULTATION.—DR. HUNTER has for thirty years confined his attention to diseases of a certain class, in which he has treated no less than fifty thousand cases without an instance of failure. His great remedy, HUNTER'S RED DROP, cures certain diseases when regular treatment and all other remedies fail; cures without dieting or restriction in the habits of the patient; cures without the disgusting and sickening effects of all other remedies; cures in new cases in less than six hours; cures without the dreadful consequent effects of mercury, but possesses the peculiarly valuable property of annihilating the rank and poisonous taint that the blood is sure to absorb unless his remedy is used. That is what he claims for it, and what no other will accomplish. Its value in this respect has become so well known, that scientific men in every department of medical knowledge begin to appreciate it, for hardly a week passes that he is not consulted by druggists, chemists and physicians in regard to some pitiful patient who has exhausted the whole field of the faculty, and still the disease will appear. Its popularity is so great that there is not a quack doctor in the City that has not attacked it, and when they find their lies are not so easily swallowed, they then pretend that they can make it. It is $1 a vial, and cannot be obtained genuine anywhere but at the old office, No. 3 Division-st. Book for 15 three-cent stamps, 300 pages, 100 colored illustrations. The best work out.

A CARD.

In announcing that OPERA will be given on the evenings of every alternate Saturday, the Director is desirous that the public and patrons of the Opera should understand that the innovation is undertaken for the best reasons only. In the principal cities of Italy it is usual for operatic representations to be given every night of the week, while London, Paris, St. Petersburg, and Havana are favored with four nights of Opera weekly. So far as precedents are concerned, nothing more need be said, but the Director has been impelled to follow the European custom to a limited extent, because the expenditure for the presnet season—in consequence of the increased salaries and higher prices of every necessary article—will be so large that there remains only the alternative of increasing the price of admission or of augmenting the number of evening performances. In choosing the latter alternative the Director sincerely believes he will best meet the wishes of the public.

The success of Matinées, it should be borne in mind, is often periled by the state of the weather, which, during the winter months, is apt to be stormy and disagreeable to an extent sufficient seriously to injure an operatic enterprise. Matinées, in fact, with present expenses and a low price of admission, are but voluntary sacrifices, which the Director will make twice per month for the gratification of the lady patrons of the Opera. The Director trusts that his determination, therefore, to give two extra evening performances and two Matinées each month, will meet with general approbation, and that this departure from the previous routine of performances will be viewed as a matter of urgent expediency and generally supported by the habitues of the Academy of Music.

MAX MARETZEK.

CENTRAL AMERICA.

PANAMA, Sunday, Sept. 27, 1863.

The Panama Railroad Company's steamship Guatemala, Capt. DOW, arrived at Panama from Central American ports on the 21st inst. She brought a fair amount of freight, principally for England. Our dates from Guatemala and Salvador are to the 13th of September, from Nicaragua to the 15th, and from Costa Rica to the 18th of September.

GUATEMALA AND SALVADOR.

THE WAR BETWEEN GUATEMALA AND SAN SALVADOR—NO PRESENT PROSPECT OF PEACE.

There does not seem to be any immediate prospect of a termination of the war between Guatemala and Salvador. The Nicaraguans, on behalf of themselves and Guatemala, still occupy the City of San Miguel with 1,200 men. President CARRERA, of Guatemala, still holds himself at the head of five or six thousand men in front of the City of San Salvador, but seems to be fearful of attacking President BARRIOS, for fear of disaster to himself. His plan is to keep BARRIOS inclosed in the city until his supplies give out, which it is probable he may be able to do.

On the 5th September two companies of BARRIOS' troops sallied out from their works, and attacking 300 of CARRERA's troops, defeated them, killing from 20 to 25 of them. BARRIOS is completely cut off from the coast by the occupation of Santa Tecla, on the road to the port of La Libertad, by CARRERA's troops. The troops of BARRIOS, notwithstanding their apparently desperate position, are very enthusiastic in the cause of their chief.

President CARRERA is charged by the Liberals, and apparently with reason, with favoring the plan of European reoccupation of Spanish America, to which no doubt BARRIOS is heartily opposed. Guatemala has been the refuge for years of the cast-out priests and Jesuits of Mexico and other Spanish States, and the whole priesthood of these countries would gladly return to old Mother Spain and the Pope.

NICARAGUA.

President MARTINEZ has resumed his place as Chief or Executive of the State, which has been temporarily filled by Señor CASTILLO.

COSTA RICA.

CONGRESSIONAL ELECTIONS—IRISH COLONISTS—INTERNAL IMPROVEMENTS.

Elections for Members of Congress are going on without disturbance. The new Congress is to replace the one dissolved in August by President JIMENEZ.

Mr. JOHN McLEAN has made a contract to bring three hundred Irish to settle the wilds of Serapiqui and Quebrado Grande, in Costa Rica.

The Government of Costa Rica will not allow the Transit Company, it is said, to turn the waters of the Serapiqui into the San Juan River.

The time of the Belgian Company to construct a road from San José to the Serapiqui has expired, and the Government has refused to prolong it.

SOUTH AMERICA.

PANAMA, Sunday, Sept. 27, 1863.

The regular British mail steamer from Valparaiso and intermediate ports, reached Panama on the 22d inst. She brings 409,000 in specie, and a cargo of Southern products, mostly for England. Her dates from Valparaiso and Santiago de Chili are to Sept. 2, and from Lima and Callao to Sept. 14.

ECUADOR.

THE CHURCH EXACTIONS—PREPARATIONS TO RESIST INVASION.

By way of Paita we have dates to the 14th inst. from Ecuador, which leave that State in a more hopeful condition than previous accounts. Congress has so modified the obnoxious Concordat with Rome, that no objection is now raised to it even by the most liberal and enlightened citizens. It is considered doubtful if the Pope will accept it in its present condition. But one thing is quite certain, the Church will get nothing more favorable. Even the President, Don GARCIA MORENO, who is responsible for the original draft, now admits that it was mischievous in its tendencies, and is disposed to punish the monks and priests for getting him into the trouble, by throwing them all overboard. This change of front will take out one of the principal spokes in MOSQUERA's wheel. Our Provisional President—of Colombia—complains bitterly of the Concordat, and of the conduct of Ecuador in harboring the priests who proved so contumacious among us; and recites these acts in his late proclamation, promising the Liberals of Ecuador assistance, as good causes for intervention. Another complaint of MOSQUERA is, that Ecuador has virtually placed herself under the protection of France, and that President MORENO is in league with the monarchists of Central South America and Mexico, to bring all the Spanish American States again under European rule. His proclamation had caused a deal of excitement throughout Ecuador, and great preparations are making by the Government, or rather talked of, to resist an invasion which was expected from his forces on the side of the Colombian State of Cauca.

PERU.

FINANCIAL REFORM—SMALL-POX AT LIMA.

Peru, under the new administration of Gen. PEZET, is perfectly quiet. The Government is preparing to regulate the wretched monetary system of Peru by excluding the bad and depreciated silver currency of Bolivia.

The small-pox was increasing in Lima. The deaths for ten days in September were 23.

Señor JOSE MARIA SAMPER, a leading Liberal of South America, and an accomplished writer, late editor of the Lima Comercio, has left Lima for his home at Bogota.

Guano freights £4 to Europe.

There is nothing worthy of note from Bolivia.

CHILI.

THE VALPARAISO AND SANTIAGO RAILROAD—BUSINESS MATTERS.

The matter of the management of the Valparaiso and Santiago Railroad was the principal topic of discussion. The President has presented a bill to Congress asking authority "to manage, rent, or sell" the road, which has cost eleven millions of dollars and twelve years of labor. It is not known which he will be authorized finally to do, though public opinion is strongly in favor of renting the line. If the people of Chili will read the history of the Michigan and other roads in the United States, while principally under the management of small politicians, they will not be at a loss as to what course to adopt. On the 24th of August the first train passed from Valparaiso through to Santiago, and the road was to have been formally opened on the anniversary of Chilian independence, the 18th September.

The Mejillones guano dispute with Bolivia, it is now thought, will be amicably arranged.

Business in Valparaiso continues dull, although at this season of the year it should be very brisk. Purchasers of cotton goods are very timid about buying, as the late news from the United States indicated an early termination of the rebellion and a consequent great decline in raw cotton. A considerable number of vessels had arrived from foreign ports, so that there is more activity in the freighting business. Ores from the coast ports are taken to Europe at £4; to the United States at $20 per English ton. All the vessels in port will be taken at these prices. In Sugars, 141,000 arobas had arrived within fifteen days, which will be sold at loss. Nitrate is held at 16 rials, but no sales at that price. Holders of Copper are unwilling to sell at less than $18 cash. Flour ranges from $2 75 to $3—six months' credit. Considerable business has been done in Barley at 21 rials the fanega, but holders demand $3. Exchange on London, 90 days, 43⅞d. per dollar; 90 days, 44⅛d. On Paris, 4f. 65c. to 4f. 70c. On the United States, "30 to 40 per cent. discount."

URAGUAY.

THE WAR PROGRESSING SLOWLY.

There does not seem to be any speedy prospect of the termination of the war in this State. Gen. Flores had improved his position, but the Revolutionists do not seem disposed to hazard a battle.

COLOMBIA.

Presidential Election in Colombia—Doings of the Georgia and Alabama—Loss of the American Ship Northern Crown.

PANAMA, Sunday, Sept. 27, 1863.

We have no local news of any particular interest. The State continues quiet—the only matter of discussion being the coming election for the Chief of the Republic. Public opinion seems to be divided between the present Provisional President, Gen. MOSQUERA and Señor MURILLO, Colombian Minister to Washington—with the chances, as things now stand, in favor of the latter. A report is current here that Gen. MOSQUERA has requested a new meeting of the Panama Legislature, to revise its action in designating Señor MURILLO as its choice, on the ground of some irregularity in the proceedings. But this is probably not true.

The British Steamship Company between Panama and Valparaiso and intermediate ports, announce their intention to double the service on the route This Company has been in operation for about twenty years, with liberal subsidies, and runs a fortnightly line, connecting with fine side-wheel steamers from Aspinwall to Southampton, touching at St. Thomas for the West India and Mexican mails. New steamers, of large size and great power, are now in course of construction in England, and will be put on from Panama to Valparaiso the coming year, when the service will be weekly with this whole coast to Europe.

There are yet some cases of small-pox in Panama and Aspinwall, but the epidemic is decreasing.

A South American paper announces that Señor SARMIENTO, now Governor of the Argentine Province of San Juan, is to be sent as the Argentine Minister Plenipotentiary to Washington.

The Valparaiso papers report some doings of the British pirates Georgia and Alabama, a portion of which may be new to you. The Georgia burnt, near the Island of Trinidad, the American bark Constitution, bound from the United States to Shanghai. The crew were placed on the American ship City of Bath, the master of which was forced to bond his vessel.

On the night of the 22d July, lat. 12 S., lon. 36 W., a boat came alongside the Iduma for Bahia, which boat proved to be from the Alabama. The Iduma was offered two chronometers to take 22 persons from burned vessels to Bahia, but refused. The Alabama then bore to the southwest.

Capt. HOFFMANN, of the Hamburg ship Albertina, on the 6th day of August, off Cape Horn, in a strong gale from the southeast, at 5½ o'clock P. M., saw a vessel on fire at a great distance, which burned (a light blue flame) till 12½ o'clock at night. The next day, on getting near the wreck, she was so much destroyed that the Captain could not tell if she were a bark or a ship, and could find nothing of her crew.

The ship Harry of the West, 150 days from Boston, for San Francisco, put into Valparaiso for water, Aug. 31. She was fifty-five days off Cape Horn.

The American bark Frances Palmer arrived at Valparaiso on the 22d of August, with the officers and crew of the American ship Northern Crown, which latter vessel foundered at sea on her voyage from the Chincha Islands to Havre, with guano. In lat. 54° S., after being thirty days out, she sprung aleak, the master altered his course to the north, when, in 50° S., on the 15th of August, in a severe gale, her leaks increased to such an alarming extent that the crew thought themselves in great luck when the Frances Palmer hove in sight and took them off, which she did with great labor and danger to herself. The Northern Crown went down soon after the crew were taken off. The United States Consul sent them to the hospital on their arrival at Valparaiso. Capt. MERRILL goes to New-York from Aspinwall to-day.

The Vanderbilt steamer Champion arrived at Aspinwall on the morning of the 25th at 2 o'clock—only ten days and fourteen hours in making 1,960 miles!

The United States sloop-of-war St. Marys and the United States gunboat Saginaw are at Panama. No United States vessel at Aspinwall.

The Governor of the State of Panama has issued a decree that the holders of Treasury notes of the State shall convert them into consolidated bonds at an interest of one and a half per centum a month.

SPIRIT OF THE RICHMOND PRESS.

COMMENT ON GEN. LEE'S REPORT.

We continue our extracts from Richmond papers, the receipt of which we acknowledged yesterday:

From the Richmond Examiner, Oct. 3.

We have to-day the first official report of Gen. LEE's many military operations which the public has been permitted to see. It is that distinguished commander's own account of the late Pennsylvania campaign, and of his unsuccessful battle at Gettysburgh.

Considered as an intellectual and literary effort, this paper does not suggest the idea that if the world should hereafter possess a second "LEE's Memoirs of the War in the Southern Department," they will rival those which bear the name of his less famous but not less able sire. It is, however, scarcely fair to contrast this plain document with that finished production, containing on some pages the best statements of military design and reason in the whole range of the English language.

The report is an outline of events already familiarly known. Much that might be said is evidently avoided. The few explanations given are rather to be implied by the reader than directly made by the writer. The two questions which generally occur to the observers of these events are: 1st, why Gen. Lee risked a battle at Gettysburgh? and 2d, why he did not press his advantages on the first and second days? The answers are rather hinted than completely expressed in this report. It appears that the battle was delivered because the position assumed by Meade menaced the Confederate communication with the Potomac. The reason why the work was not finished and the victory completed on the first and second days, when it might have been done, was the fact that the army was not concentrated at Gettysburgh with the speed which would have been used had Gen. Lee been better informed of the position and force of the enemy. Why was he not informed? The answer which may be drawn from this report is, that Gen. Lee did not have the cavalry under his hand to reconnoitre and bring information. He says that he left STUART in the Valley, to guard the passes of the mountains, for some time after the entrance into Pennsylvania, and he does not appear to have had the use of the mounted force until the battle was joined at Gettysburgh. The fact that the cavalry of the Confederate army was insufficient, is the most probable reason of the failure in Pennsylvania, and, perhaps, the key to all the mystery of Gettysburgh.

One deduction is to be drawn from the general tenor of this dispatch is consoling. Gen. LEE is evidently not one of those who regard the invasion of Pennsylvania to have been a radical error, or that its partial failure is a solid reason why no further offensive operations against the enemy should be attempted. The writer of this report is evidently a man who would neither be dazzled by success or emasculated by defeat. We have room to hope that if he does not renew the great design imperfectly shadowed in the report, he will replace it in the future by some other essentially the same; and that he recognizes the truth of Napoleon's best maxim, that the most magnificent achievements in war, as in other things, are generally accomplished after one or more partial or complete disappointments.

ECONOMY IN THE COUNTRY.

From the Richmond Whig, Oct. 3.

The country gentlemen are coming nobly to the support of the cause and the army. At public meetings they have solemnly pledged themselves to do all that men can be expected to do in aid of the Government, the soldiers, and the non-producing classes generally. It is to be expected that, sooner or later, their patriotism and generosity will be reciprocated by the merchants and manufacturers of our principal cities. This reciprocity, we confess, is much slower in manifesting itself than we could wish; but its ultimate exhibition is guaranteed by the great natural law of sympathy, and by the desire that every human being feels to stand well in the eyes of his fellow-men. For very shame, our manufacturers and merchants will be compelled to respond to the farmers. The marvel is that they seem willing to incur even the momentary disgrace of not doing so. But this will all be right in time, or else the farmers will be forced back to old prices, and the suffering thus produced will cure itself suddenly and violently. This violence will not be felt in the country, but in town, as a just retribution for the apathy and parsimony of the citizens. Riotous assemblages, similar to those which disgraced so many towns last Spring, will occur. It is within the power of the merchants, manufacturers, speculators and hoarders of all kinds to prevent the recurrence of these shameful scenes; and it is in their power alone. Many prefer to invoke the aid of legislation, and clamor for the enactment of sumptuary laws, which, as MONTESQUIEU declares truly, are "of all laws the most inefficacious, and most constantly violated." The speculators and hoarders are well aware of this fact, and it is idle to hold such laws in terrorem over them. It is much better to tell them the truth, viz.: that there is but one remedy for the crime of which they are guilty, and that is violence.

But while the country gentlemen are exerting themselves so patriotically, we trust the ladies of the rural districts are not behind them in the good work of supporting and sustaining the good cause. Hitherto, they have been in the front rank of patriots, always ready and willing to work when everybody else seemed exhausted, and always able to draw from their stores some new and much needed supply. They must not and they will not falter now, that the pinch of the war, which precedes its close is at hand. To save everything from garden, orchard and field that can be saved, to gather every scrap of wool and work it up to the best advantage, to keep the shuttle, the spinning wheel and the knitting-needle going day and night, to exercise their ingenuity in making a few Bedclothes go a long ways, so that blankets may be sent to the suffering soldier—this a part of the great duty which no devolves upon the ladies of the country. Above all, they must learn that hardest of lessons to all Southerners, the art of economizing in all things that may in any way conduce to the comfort of the army and the poor people in the cities. Provisions must no longer be wasted in the lavish mode of living which obtained in peace times. Country people may live well, far better, in fact, than the majority of town people, and yet save vast amounts of food which are now literally thrown away, simply because the old habit of crowding the table with twice as much as is wanted has not been abandoned. Every pound of meat, of vegetables and fruits thus saved will be of inestimable value next Spring. Waste of food or of the materials which enter into the composition of clothing is a high crime now, because it is robbery of the soldier and of the poor.

Let us not be misunderstood as giving advice to the ladies in the country, who are far more able to teach than to be taught lessons in economy. We wish simply to impress upon them the fact that there is a more imperative necessity for husbanding all the resources, both of town and country, than they, perhaps, are aware of or disposed to believe. If they will bear this fact in mind, there will be no occasion for admonitions from the newspapers. The art of retrenchment will be carried to its proper limit and no further, and the ladies will again have proved the saviors of their country.

BENEDICTION.

Music.....College Songs

* Absent at the seat of war.

Among the orations were many which were well worthy of riper years and a wider field, and several of the candidates for prizes were as remarkable for their youth as for their repeated successes. Young Mr. HANKS especially was apparently the most youthful of the triumphant competitors, and yet was laden with well-merited laurels. The Valedictory Address by Mr. LEMAIRE ZABRISKIE was a fine production, and drew upon the speaker the reiterated plaudits of the immense audience and of his Academic colleagues. It was almost midnight ere this interesting, and, to the young men, memorable ceremony terminated. The money prizes will be paid to-day at the Academy as usual.

The New-York Historical Society.

The New-York Historical Society held a meeting last evening at their rooms, corner of Second-avenue and Eleventh-street, commemorative of the late President of the Society, Hon. LUTHER BRADISH. A large audience was assembled. The meeting was called to order and presided over by Rev. Dr. DEWITT, the first Vice President of the Society, who, after alluding to his early friendship with Mr. BRADISH, and stating the purposes of the present meeting, called upon Hon. GULIAN C. VERPLANCK, who after alluding to the public services of the deceased, his varied accomplishments, his generous impulses and many benevolent characteristics, presented an elaborate series of resolutions, which in substance embodied his previous remarks.

Mr. VERPLANCK was followed by CHARLES KING, LL. D., President of Columbia College, Rev. Dr. Tyng, Hon. C. P. KIRKLAND and E. L. BURROWS, Esq. A letter from WM. BEACH LAWRENCE, Esq., was read by the Secretary, in which many interesting facts were elicited relative to the early relations between this country and Turkey, and the active part which Mr. BRADISH took while on his visit to Constantinople, in finally perfecting a treaty which has resulted in the most intimate and amicable commercial relations between the two countries. At the conclusion of this the meeting adjourned.

THE EIGHTH-AVENUE MURDER CASE.

Trial of Dr. E. M. Brown.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS.

Before Recorder Hoffman.

The impanneling of a jury in this case was resumed yesterday morning, and completed as follows:

Jurors—John Irwin, Owen Conley, Jacob Kellar, James N. Hull, Charles W. Swift, John L. Jewett, George Vaughn, James A. Sleight, John J. Martling, Emanuel Boaz, Henry Pincus, John Wadsworth.

District-Attorney HALL opened the case with a brief statement of the circumstances attending the death of CLEMENTINA ANDERSON, the supposed agency of Dr. BROWN in producing that result, and the law applicable to the case. He said it made no difference to the prosecution whether an abortion was procured by the prisoner or not. If he maltreated her, under the supposition that she was pregnant, and she died from the effects of such maltreatment, he was guilty of murder in the second degree, the punishment of which was imprisonment for life.

The first witness called was James Anderson, father of Clementina, who testified that he was a tailor by trade, and sexton of the Methodist Church in Seventh-avenue, and resided at No. 370 Bleeker-street; his daughter died on the 19th of November, 1862; last saw her before her death on the 25th of October, in the same year; she was then in excellent health; did not know where she was between the 25th of October and the 19th of November; on the evening of the latter date she came home and died within five or seven minutes after her arrival; she was brought to the house in a carriage; she was twenty years and three months old when she died, and unmarried; a lady calling herself Mrs. Green accompanied Clementina home, and there were also two men with the carriage; I asked Mrs. Green where my daughter came from; she said from Newburgh. (Witness here pointed out Mrs. Green in the Court room.)

Cross-examined by Mr. Clinton—Made efforts to ascertain where my daughter was the second week after she left home; six or seven days before her return I applied to Augustus L. Simms, to ascertain where she was; met Simms at my brother's house for that purpose; he denied knowing anything about her whereabouts; eight or ten days before she left she spoke about going to Newburgh to visit some relatives; two days before she returned, Simms told me at the church that he knew nothing of her whereabouts; he did not come with her when she returned; don't know who the men were that accompanied her in the carriage; they brought her into the house and laid her on a sofa; she did not look like a human being; she was a mere skeleton. [Witness here pointed in the Court-room to one of the men who accompanied his daughter home.]

Coroner Ranney was called, and identified the signatures to the depositions taken upon the inquest held before him; he testified that before the inquest he visited Dr. Brown's residence, where he found various surgical instruments, which he conveyed to the Nineteenth Precinct Station-house; also, found a lady's collar and some jewelry in a room adjoining; [instruments shown to, and identified by witness.]

On cross-examination he testified that he sent for Dr. Brown to attend the investigation at the Coroner's inquest; he was then under arrest on suspicion of having produced the abortion.

Edward Donohue, sworn—I am the person who took Miss Anderson home; I brought her from a house three doors from the corner of Fourteenth-street and Eighth-avenue; was less than ten minutes in driving from there to Mr. Anderson's; she came to the carriage out of Dr. Brown's door, a gentleman and a lady holding her by the arm; when we reached Mr. Anderson's I took her from the coach into the house and laid her on the sofa; a lady accompanied her in the carriage and went into the house with her; I came out and left them both there.

Cross-examined—A stranger engaged me to take the lady from Dr. Brown's. (Defendant's counsel asked if the stranger was Augustus L. Simms. Objected to, and objection sustained.) I afterward saw the person in the Tombs; they called his name Simms; a boy rode in the coach with the ladies from Dr. Brown's to Mr. Anderson's; he was a relative of mine; the man who engaged the carriage helped the sick lady to the coach and seated her, after which he left.

Dr. Thos. C. Finnell, who made the second post-mortem examination, was called, and testified that he was Surgeon to St. Vincent's Hospital, and had made over 1,000 post-mortem examinations. In the post-mortem of Miss Simms he found evidence of inflammation, which, in his opinion, was the cause of death. He described minutely the appearance of the inflamed parts, and gave it as his opinion that the inflammation was caused by an abortion. Did not examine the brain.

Agnes Mann, sworn—Knew the deceased, Clementina Anderson; resided in the house of her father when she died; she left the house about three and a half weeks before she died; her health was then good.

Cross-examined—Have known her since she was a child; had lived in her father's family for two years before she died; slept with her, and did not discover up to the time she left home any indications of her being in a family way; saw her when she was brought home on the evening of the 19th of November; she did not speak after she arrived, and died in four or five minutes after I first saw her.

At this point the Court adjourned until 11 o'clock this morning.

The Paterson Races.

These races were commenced yesterday under the most pleasing circumstances of a fine day, a numerous and respectable attendance—a great proportion being ladies of the highest character—and a racing programme, which gave every satisfaction to the spectators who were not losers by the frowns of Dame Fortune.

The favorites were beaten in the first two races—Lizzie W. being beaten by Aldebaran in the mile heats, and Idlewild being beaten by the Canadian horse Thunder in the two-mile heats. John Morgan was the favorite in the three-mile dash, and won it gallantly. Young ED. HAFFERTY rode Thunder and Morgan.

The junior officers of the Russian fleet were present, for whom a special was provided by Mr. MINOT, General Superintendent of the Erie Railroad, and placed in charge of Mr. ELLICK HARRING, the popular conductor, and by whom the Russians were conveyed to and fro with lightning speed with perfect comfort. Detectives MASTERSON, BENNETT and SLOWEY, and the local police, under the direction of Sheriff CHISWELL, and the thieves, monte-men and rowdies were consequently not there.

Mr. E. B. COLT, President, Mr. CHISWELL, Secretary, Mr. GODWIN, Mr. VAN WINKLE, and other active members of the Committee, are untiring in their endeavors to make the races a success, and thus far they have succeeded.

Four races are on the programme for to-day—a sweepstakes, $300, for two year olds, mile dash; a race for all ages, $200, mile heats; selling purse 2¼ mile dash, and local sweepstake, $200, 1¼ mile dash.

We have only room for a summary of yesterday's races, and to say that trains leave from foot of Chambers-street at 8, 8:30, 10, 11:15 A. M., and 2 P. M., stopping at course, and return at 3:15, 4:35. Extra train after races.

The following is the summary:

Sweepstake Premium $300 for 3-year olds; $100 entrance, $50 forfeit; mile heats

Our Russian Guests.

Throngs of citizens are visiting the Russian fleet, and all are received with utmost courtesy and friendliness. The officers seem to find no fatigue in the unceasing welcoming.

The official visit of the Baltimore Committee will be made on Saturday—the Russian Admiral having consulted their convenience entirely.

The preparations for the banquet and ball are progressing and will soon be perfected.

New-Jersey Politics.

NEWARK, Tuesday, Oct. 6.

The Union Republican City Convention met this evening, and adopted resolutions highly patriotic, and in favor of sustaining the present free school system, which, they assert, is being undermined by the party now in power. JAMES G. BARNETT was unanimously nominated for Mayor by acclamation.

FAIR FOR THE UNION HOME AND SCHOOL.—The young folks of our City are busy as possible at work for the Fair in aid of the "Union Home and School for the Education and Maintenance of the Children of our Volunteers." Each little pair of hands are assisted by kind hearts, and are really going to show us what little folks can do and what they will do for the orphans left by our brave soldiers. The Fair will open Monday, Oct. 26, and continue one week, at the City Assembly Rooms, No. 446 Broadway. The young folks are taking their offerings to the Union Home and School, while Societies and schools now engaged are requested to notify the Committee at the Union Home and School, Fifty-seventh-street, near Eighth-avenue, in order that tables may be assigned them, and rooms reserved for their articles.

NARROW ESCAPE.—A very respectable German left his house at Yonkers yesterday at noon, to procure in New-York medical aid for a sick wife. Not understanding English, he did not get information as to the character of the return train which he took, and was surprised to find himself driven through Yonkers at the rate of an express train. He kept his seat until the train passed Irvington, when, wrought up to the necessary rashness by the thought of his wife's anxiety for his return and need of his presence, he leaped from the train, struck on his feet, was dashed forward on his face, and escaped with some slight bruises on the face. Certainly a good Providence saved the poor fellow out of pity for his fearful devotion.
